Heavy Blow at German City Concentrated Into 23 Minutes

New Bomb Record Set in Raid

British and Canadians Unloose 87 Tons Per Minute on Brunswick

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP)—R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers blasted Brunswick, airplane manufacturing city in central Germany, with 2,000 tons of bombs last night in 23 minutes, setting a new record for bomb concentration of 87 tons a minute.

This heavy follow-up to last Tuesday's daylight onslaught by American heavyweights was delivered as Mosquito bombers returned again to assault Berlin and other planes hit the industrial city of Magdeburg to the south-west and targets in northern France. Thirty-eight planes were lost in the operations, seven of them Canadian.

Coldwell Says:

C.C.F. Prepares Plans in Case Party Is Elected

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(CP)—A Canadian general election within 15 months may put the C.C.F. in power and the party is preparing plans to meet such a national challenge, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said in addressing a meeting sponsored by the League for Industrial Democracy today.

"It is not beyond a possibility, if not a probability, that the general election due within 15 months at the most, will put us in power in Canada," said Mr. Coldwell.

Word reaching him from overseas had reported great gains in strength for the C.C.F. among all the armed forces. If Ontario civilians had voted in the provincial election last August in the same proportion as soldiers who were "permitted" to vote in Canada, the C.C.F. would have been the government of Ontario, Mr. Coldwell said.

EXPECT MILITARY VOTE

Had provision been made for taking the soldiers' vote overseas, particularly in Britain, all the 1943 elections in Canada would have been more conclusively C.C.F.

"Should a general election for parliament occur this year, we anticipate a heavy military vote in our favor," Mr. Coldwell continued. Editorial in the daily, weekly

German Troops Near Sarajevo

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—German troops have smashed down the Vrbas river valley from Banja Luka to within 45 miles of Sarajevo, capital of Bosnia in Yugoslavia, but have suffered heavy losses in eastern Bosnia, Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) reported today.

Nazi columns captured the Vrbas river towns off Bugojno and Gornjak, the latter 54 miles west of the Bosnian capital.

Sarajevo is 87 miles southeast of Banja Luka, rail junction from which the Germans began their drive through central Bosnia.

Other German columns captured the town of Pnjavor, 12 miles south of Banja Luka. A German column was reported smashed between Banja Luka and the town of Cadjivich.

Partisans were on the offensive in eastern Bosnia, according to Tito's bulletin, and captured the town of Bijeljina and the locality of Jarnja, 65 miles northeast of Sarajevo.

Herezegovinian patriots were said to have cut the railway line between Dubrovnik, on the Dalmatian coast north of Tostar, destroying the stations of Luk, Jasenica and Diklic.

Alleged Smuggler Charged in States

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Harry Frieled, 48, of Brooklyn, was held for grand jury action yesterday on a charge of conspiring to smuggle $7,500 worth of silver fox pelts from Canada to the United States. Harvey A. Milne, 37, Fort Erie, Ont., a Canadian immigration inspector, his wife, Ferne, and William Siegel, 28, Buffalo, were arrested Monday night on the smuggling charges.

City, District Airmen Are Honored

FLT.-LT. V. F. GANDERTON, D.F.C.

P.O. D. R. PEARCE, D.F.M.

P.O. E. C. STEWART, D.F.M.

WOI F. M. TUTTON, D.F.M.

Above are shown four Edmonton and district airmen who have been honored with decorations for gallant and distinguished service in action against the enemy. F.L.T. V. F. Ganderton of Leduc was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in July, 1943, when he brought back his bomber from a raid on the Ruhr with the centre rudder control shot away. P.O. D. R. Pearce won the Distinguished Flying Medal in May, 1943, for outstanding efficiency as a wireless air gunner. He was a flight sergeant when the award was made. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearce, live at 11139 70 street. P.O. E. C. Stewart, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Stewart, live at Camrose, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal in May, 1943. WOI F. M. Tutton, whose home is at 12121 94 street, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal in August, 1943, for his skill as an air gunner. He is credited with taking part in attacks on some of the enemy's most heavily defended targets. His citation recounts his sharpshooting when he shot out searchlights which coned his aircraft while crossing the French coast.

Welles Upholds Regional Pacts In International Organization for Peace

This is the seventh of a series of articles by Sumner Welles, former United States Under Secretary of State, which appear exclusively each week in The Edmonton Bulletin.—EDITOR.

By SUMNER WELLES

Former United States Under Secretary of State

Two of the ablest authorities who are now writing on foreign affairs in this country, Anne O'Hare McCormick and Walter Lippmann, have recently expressed in their articles divergent opinions regarding the inherent desirability and the timeliness of the treaty recently concluded between the Soviet and Czechoslovak governments.

The discussion between them has raised some exceedingly important questions which the people of the United States should now be passing upon.

Of these, there is one which is fundamental. It is the question whether the coming world organization should make provision for regional systems, or whether, like the League of Nations, it should ignore regional considerations, and be constituted in accordance with the concept of universality.

I know of no European statesman who has been a more sincere advocate of practical international co-operation than President Benes of Czechoslovakia. By reason of his conviction that the future independence of his country depended upon the success of the League of Nations, he has been a most ardent supporter of the League.

It is in the hospitals of which they spoke, said Lancel, proper modern appliances and medication were out of the question but there was not even enough ether and chloroform or the means for their administration.

12 Persons Killed As 8-Storey Block Collapses in Madrid

MADRID, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Twelve persons were killed and at least 75 injured when an eight-storey building under construction in western Madrid collapsed last night.

Rescue workers this morning still were trying to reach 16 workers trapped in a cellar pocket, most of them apparently uninjured. Builders said cement foundations for the structure had not been properly constructed.

Man Is Charged Omitting to Aid In Saving Life

Alleged by city police to have been in company with Raymond C. Jevne, Entwistle, prior to the finding of the man in a burning auto about 4:30 a.m. Friday, Charles Stack, 45 years old, of Edmonton, was placed under arrest late Friday and charged with omitting to do an act which might have saved another person's life.

The charge was laid under Section 257 of the Criminal Code of Canada.

Stack, police said, told them that he had been with Jevne earlier in the evening. When he saw Jevne in the burning car, outside the Hull block, 97 street and 106 avenue, he ran two blocks to telephone the police.

Jevne did not respond to artificial respiration when removed from the auto by police and he was rushed to Royal Alexandra hospital in Smith's ambulance. At the hospital, efforts to revive him were made for two hours and a half, before life was pronounced extinct.

A post-mortem was performed Friday afternoon on Jevne's body. An inquest will be held.

Police investigations are continuing.

Appearing before Magistrate Harold L. Howe, K.C., in city police court Saturday morning, Stack heard the charge against him. No plea was taken.

In asking for bail to be set, Hugh Calais Macdonald, K.C., defence counsel, referred to the case as "homicide by admission."

The seriousness of the charge required substantial bail, said the magistrate, as he fixed it at $3,000. The case was then remanded until Jan. 21.

War Spending Jumps in 1943

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—(CP)—War expenditures for the first nine months of the present fiscal year, April 1 to Dec. 31, 1943, totalled $2,782,749,515, compared with $1,641,388,326 in the same period of the previous year, it was disclosed today in a report of the comptroller of the treasury.

Total expenditures amounted to $3,822,001,736 against $2,661,324,861, with receipts at $1,662,416,123 against $1,630,264,715.

The report showed expenditures of $558,028,399 on mutual aid, of which $107,549,611 was spent in December. In addition, under "loans and investments" the report showed $8,417,966 spent to the account of the Soviet Republic during the nine-month period.

Witness in Murder Jailed For Refusal To Give Evidence

VANCOUVER, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Victor F. Mayer, one of the chief crown witnesses in the preliminary hearing of Charles T. Hawken on a charge of murdering Francis A. Boland, yesterday was ordered committed to jail on a contempt of court charge by Magistrate H. S. Wood in police court.

The commitment was ordered when Mayer, on advice of his counsel, A. G. D. Crux, refused to give evidence in the case.

When Mayer was called to the stand, Mr. Crux told the court that in view of two charges of robbery that his client is now facing, he had advised him not to give evidence.

Acting City Prosecutor Gordon Scott explained that Mayer would be given protection of the Canada Evidence act, but this did not satisfy witness' counsel.

Nazis Complain of 'Outrages' Against Homes and Offices

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Nazi military command in the northern Italian city of Florence has issued an order extending the curfew and banning the use of bicycles after dark because "outrages" were committed last night "against German offices and German houses." Engineer Is Killed As Trains Collide DARIEN, Conn., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Engineer Edward J. Garrity of New Haven, Conn., was killed last night in a collision between two passenger trains at the Darien railroad station.

The trains involved, a road official announced, were two eastbound trains, one making a regular station stop at Darien. The other was an extra returning to New Haven with deadhead passenger equipment.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The German high command reported today that the Red army had opened a powerful offensive on the Leningrad front, attacking in strong force in the area of Oranienbaum, resort town on the Gulf of Finland, 19 miles west of the old Czarist capital.

A Berlin communique reporting the Russian drive in the region of Oranienbaum also said strong Soviet forces had mounted an attack north of Lake Ilmen, indicating that the long-awaited Red army campaign to reduce the German salient tipped by Leningrad was under way.

A major Soviet offensive on the Leningrad front would set in motion the entire 1,200-mile Russian front from the Gulf of Finland to the Crimea.

DRIVE TOWARD PINKS

At the centre, the Red Army of White Russia was sweeping westward 20 miles beyond captured Mozyr and Kalinkovichi on the way to Pinsk and Brest Litovsk—the road that the Russians call "the short cut to Berlin."

Soviet armies of White Russia and the northwest Ukraine were closing the jaws of a trap for the Germans.

"Freak" Attack On Movie House Takes 7 Lives

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Seven persons were killed and 31 injured when a German plane making a freak raid without an alert being sounded dropped a bomb squarely on a suburban London movie house last night.

The sound of the plane's engines was heard, then the whistle of a bomb and, the Daily Express said, it scored a direct hit on the crowded theatre. Everyone in an adjoining dance hall escaped.

The movie audience kept calm. Most did not know what the blast was as they had no warning of a raid flashed on the screen.

No gunfire was heard and the bomb hit the centre of the theatre roof. It missed two balconies and landed just back of the orchestra pit, blowing at least 25 seats into the air.

Peru Discovers German-Jap Plot

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Peruvian government announced today that a number of conspirators, including Germans and Japanese plotting a New Year's plot, had been detained and would be deported, while others had been notified to leave the country.

The government charged that the conspirators staged anti-Jewish outbreaks on the day before New Year's, planning to cloak their subversive activities in the subsequent disorder.

This apparently explained reports, which never were confirmed, that disturbances had also occurred in southern Peru. The reports evidently had been started by the conspirators.

Gangster Slain: Associate Dies Of Heart Attack

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Ben Zuckerman, described by police as a gambling boss and prohibition era bootlegger, was shot to death last night, police said today. Less than two hours after Zuckerman was slain, Ben Glaser, 60, who police said was his associate, died of a heart attack after being informed of Zuckerman's death.

Edmonton Liberals Reject Invitation of Independents To Participate in Meeting

Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association will take no part in naming of city delegates to the coming provincial convention of the Independent Citizens' Association of Alberta, it was decided at an executive meeting of the Liberal group, held in the 103 street I.O.O.F. Hall Friday night.

By a vote of 14 to 7, the meeting politely but firmly rejected a suggestion advanced by the Independents that the Liberals name a committee to sit with similar Progressive-Conservative and Independent committees, and choose Edmonton delegates to the Independents' convention, which is to be held in Calgary Monday.

C. H. Grant, K.C., secretary of the Liberal association, read to the meeting a letter received from J. Percy Page, M.L.A., president of the Independent Citizens' Association, in which it was suggested a committee of three Liberals should be appointed. This committee, the letter explained, was to sit with committees from Conservative and Independent groups, and would select delegates to the Independents' Calgary meeting, at which party is to select a leader and form its platform.

Total Evacuation Of Sofia Ordered

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Immediate total evacuation of Sofia's 300,000 citizens has been ordered by the Bulgarian government following two heavy raids on the capital this week by British and United States bombers, the German radio said last night.

The majority of the evacuees will be accommodated in the provinces.

At the same time Berlin reported that the death penalty had been ordered for looting and a curfew from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m. had been imposed. All city schools have been closed and a partial debt moratorium for citizens of the capital had been granted for the next fortnight. All lawsuits were ordered held in abeyance until the end of the month.

The Allied raid last Monday, the Germans said, had disrupted Sofia's air raid warning system, leaving the capital dependent on church bells as a means of warning.

Dispatches Thursday from Berne, Switzerland, said evacuation of Sofia had turned into "massed flights."

Winnipeg Offered Lowest Cost Loan In City's History

WINNIPEG, Jan. 15.—(CP)—The lowest-cost loan in Winnipeg's history was assured yesterday by a bid from Nesbitt, Thomson and Company on a bond issue of $1,540,000.

The price tendered was $108.3011 per $100, representing an interest cost to the city of 2.87 per cent.

The bid must be approved by the finance committee before acceptance.

The bonds are being sold to pay of the balance of $6,449,000 issue of Winnipeg 4 1/2 per cent bonds, held in London, and called for retirement Feb. 1.

Poland Seeking British-U.S. Aid Settle Dispute

By JUDSON O'QUINN

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The Polish government in London after four successive days of cabinet study of Russia's Curzon line boundary proposal announced in a conciliatory statement early today that it was asking Britain and the United States to bring Poland and Russia together to discuss all outstanding Russian-Polish problems.

The Polish announcement which in effect asked Britain and the United States to mend broken diplomatic relations between the Polish London government and the Soviet Union, was hailed immediately in official quarters as "an encouraging response" to the Soviet government's Jan. 11 declaration suggesting the Curzon line as the Russian-Polish boundary.

"In their earnest anxiety to safeguard complete solidarity of the United Nations especially at the decisive stage of their struggle against the common enemy, the Polish government consider it to be preferable now to refrain from further public discussions," said the Polish statement.

SETTLEMENT EXPECTED

Through the mediation of Britain and the United States an early settlement of the dispute is expected in London.

Reveal How Secret Of Jet-Plane Kept

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The United States army told yesterday how it kept the secret of the jet-propulsion plane for 2½ years—including the fact that the first pilot model was built at a secret plant on one seaboard but given its test flight on the opposite side of the country.

The plane, the army said, is still without official designation, but has acquired such nicknames as "Pitt-Putt," "Squir," "Hush-Hush," "Siberia," and "Super Secret."

"At one time," the war department said, "the hangar concealing the plane produced a rumor that it housed a project involving a major improvement in the sewing machine."

"The prime difference in the outward appearance of the jet-propulsion plane in contrast with others is that it does not have a propeller. Once when the plane was transported by truck from one testing site to another a dummy wooden propeller was attached, successfully cloaking its identity."

"The plane and its engines have been protected always by a 24-hour guard system."

FOR THE CHURCH The MINSHALL Organ

Certainly it cannot be denied that the organ is the true complement of the church—and no church can adequately diffuse that sense of reverence and quiet personality in the mind of the congregation without the background of appropriate organ music.

The modern church could well use the atmosphere of the grand pipe organ but, for reasons of cost and required space, it is not always possible to maintain such.

There should be no question, then, that the Minshall Organ should be the instrument for your requirements, when it offers such exacting tone qualities—adaptability to any sized church, low initial and maintenance cost, and a valuable space-saver, as well.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

The accompanying map of Italy shows the most recent gains made by Allied forces. The Allies have taken Ortona and Castel di Sangro. They have made gains also north-east of Cassino and near the mouth of the Garigliano river. The Germans seem to have cleared out of Cervaro, three miles east of Cassino. British destroyers bombed places along Adriatic coast and Allied planes attacked towns behind battle-front.

Poland Seeks Early Accord With Russia

accomplished facts which have taken place or might take place on the territory of the Polish republic. The Poles said that they had repeatedly sought a just Polish-Soviet agreement.

"To this end," the statement concluded, "the Polish government are approaching the British and United States governments with a view to securing through their intermediary discussion by the Polish and Soviet governments with the participation of the British and American governments of all outstanding questions, settlement of which should lead to friendly and permanent co-operation between Poland and the Soviet Union."

This was the Poles' reply to the Russian proposal that Poland accept as her eastern boundary a line projected in 1919 after the First Great War by an Allied Commission headed by Viscount Curzon, then British foreign secretary. The Poles then rejected it vehemently and fought Russia and obtained a border 125 to 175 miles east of the Curzon line under the 1921 Riga treaty.

With the partitioning of Poland in 1939 by Germany and Russia, the Soviet-Polish border was established approximately along the Curzon line except that it gave Russia large additional area near Lithuania in the north and a smaller extra portion of Galicia in the south.

Thus Moscow, while proposing that Poland accept a border she violently opposed in 1919, was suggesting that Russia give up some of the territory she acquired from Poland in 1939. Moscow suggested also that Poland add land to the westward by taking it from Germany.

A copy of today's Polish statement was given to the Russians before its publication. The new declaration came after a cabinet session which lasted throughout Friday morning and was followed by another meeting between Foreign Secretary Eden and Polish Foreign Minister Tadeusz Romer.

There was little doubt that the sands of Germans in the Pripiet marshes as Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's troops struck up from the Sarny region.

First Nazi reports of the new Russian drives on the Leningrad front failed to indicate the trend of the fighting, an omission usually reflecting German reverses.

Oranienbaum, ancient resort community by the sea, was the site of a dual palace and many villas where the old Russian nobility from Leningrad resided.

INDICATES POSITIONS

The Berlin report of fighting in that area was the first recent indication of the battle positions in the Leningrad area. The Germans have been shelling Leningrad itself for some time, and Moscow had given no indication that the besiegers had been pushed back from the outskirts of the metropolitan area.

The Red army blasted a corridor through the German siege lines last winter and eased the plight of Leningrad, but for months there had been no definite sign of major changes on that front.

The German communiqué reported that the Russians had been thrown back northwest of Kirovograd in the upper Dnieper bend and south of Zashkov, 37 miles below Belaya Tserkov.

Moscow dispatches reported that a great battle east of Vinnitsa, in the lower Ukraine before the Bug River defense line, had reached a pitch of extraordinary ferocity. The Germans were reported throwing in tank and infantry reserves in "wild" attempts to penetrate the Soviet positions and block the advance against the Odessa-Warsaw railroad.

Red Star, Soviet army organ, said the German attempts to wedge the Russian lines had failed, despite multiple attacks shifted from point to point at high speed.

Former Members Of Fascist Council Still Being Hunted

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP)—An indication that the Germans and Benito Mussolini's reconstituted puppet government in northern Italy still are hunting members of the Fascist grand council that ousted Mussolini last July 25 was seen yesterday in a German Transocean propaganda agency dispatch reporting where the men were believed to be living.

Thirteen men were sentenced to death in absentia by the puppet court that was declared to have sent Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law, the aged Emilio Bono and two others before a firing squad Tuesday for their part in Mussolini's overthrow.

Transocean said that Dino Alfieri, former Italian ambassador to Berlin, was reported in Geneva, Switzerland, and that Count Dino Grandi, a leader in the council's action against Mussolini, was in Lisbon, Portugal.

The school is being moved to Weyburn, Sask., in the near future.

R.A.F., Canucks Hit Brunswick In Heavy Raid

the R.A.F., fighting through a big force of German night fighters to do another of the cloud-bombing jobs that set Brunswick so alight it looked like a city "that was not blacked out," as one pilot put it.

This filer added, "it was just like daylight. Fires on the ground lit up the clouds and the clouds lit up the sky. You could see the big bombs going off."

USE NEW FLARES

"The Germans were using their new fighter flares, several times brighter than the old ones," a Canadian gunner said. "The whole target area was dazzling with them and we could plainly see our Lancasters swarming all over the place."

One of the Canadian Lancasters shot down an antiquated four-engine Focke-Wulf Condor, primarily a transport plane, which the Germans threw up with its fighters in frantic opposition to the fourth big night attack of the month on Germany.

Brunswick, a city of 200,000 people 100 miles west of Berlin was last bombed by the R.A.F. on Sept. 27, 1943, in an attack that was secondary to a smash that night at Hanover. It was also hit by daylight by Americans last Tuesday, along with four other German cities.

AIRPLANE CENTRE

Brunswick is the home of airplane works, and plants turning out artillery, motorcycles, tractors and railroad signals.

"We could see what looked like a lot of little stars down there and they seemed to rise up and burst," a pilot said of the German anti-aircraft fire.

Yesterday's daylight attacks against the so-called "rocket-gun coast" called into action in the neighborhood of 1,400 Allied planes. Last night's twin blows by the heavy bombers and the Mosquitoes made the fourth notable United Nations air assault against the Germans within 24 hours.

One hundred of Russian bombers entered the assault yesterday, attacking a German Black Sea convoy, and far-ranging R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. planes swooped down on more Nazi shipping off Norway, torpedoing two vessels.

CHEMICAL CITY

Magdeburg, Elbe River city about 80 miles southwest of Berlin which the R.A.F.'s Mosquitoes went on to blast last night, is an important chemical and war manufacturing city.

The Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet said about 100 Mosquitoes made last night's attack on Berlin.

He said the capital's sirens sent the bomb-punished residents to shelters shortly after 7 p.m., and added that the extent of damage was unknown.

The antiquated Condor was bagged by Lt. Al Rorke, formerly of Powell River, B.C., making the trip with the Canadians.

Rorke was formerly of the R.C.A.F. but transferred to the American air force in Britain.

"Just after we left the target this four-engine kid came up behind us," Rorke's co-pilot said.

"At first we thought it was another Lancaster. Then it swung into line and just as I was going to say 'diver to starboard' to the skipper it fired a burst at us. It plastered us and cut off half our rudder."

ALBERTANS IN RAID

Crew members of the R.C.A.F. Lancaster which shot up the Condor transport included P.O. Murray Stewart of St. Walburg, Sask., Bomb Almer F.O. Nickle Baron of Spedden, Alta., Sqdn. Ldr. W. W. Strachan of Trail, B.C., Flt. Lt. John Cooper of Qu'Appelle, Sask.

Baron said he saw cannon shells floating past the port side as the Condor attacked. "Something hit me in the back but didn't hurt," he said.

A Thunderbird Squadron Lancaster piloted by Flt. Lt. T. R. Shaw of Kapuskasing, Ont., making his first trip as commander of a bomber, engaged a Focke-Wulf 190 just after it left the target and the Nazi flipped over on its back and faded away with flames pouring from him.

Crewmates in this bomber included F.O. B. E. Lynn of Rocky Mountain House, Alta., navigator, and F.O. Jimmy Dodge of Spirit River, Alta., bomb aimer.

Canada's Leading "Bankroll Peeler" Is At It Again

SYDNEY, N.S., Jan. 15.—(CP)—Canada's No. 1 bankroll-peeler—millionaire Harry F. McLean of Merriekville, Ont.—paid a whirlwind visit to Sydney yesterday and was reported last night to have left in his wake gift cheques running up to $500.

Though McLean's movements were not fully known, he was believed to have indulged his propensity for giving away cash mostly to the benefit of the 600 employees of his contracting firm at nearby Point Edward across the harbor from here. His men are doing construction work at Point Edward—known locally as "Boom Town"—for the navy.

McLean also was believed to have visited the Point Edward naval hospital before leaving late in the day by automobile for an unknown destination.

Australia Plans Free Medicine For All People

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(CP)—The Melbourne radio said yesterday that J. M. Fraser, Australian minister of health and social services, had announced that a bill providing "free medicine for every Australian regardless of income" was being prepared for submission to parliament.

The broadcast said that "drug stores would be paid a fixed fee for each prescription, the government would supervise the scheme and costs would be met out of the $28,000,000 National Welfare Fund," established to meet federal social service projects.

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—(CP)—A spokesman for the federal health department said last night that legislation which might provide free medicine for all Canadians was not being considered by the dominion government at the present time.

War Office Bans Political Speech

EDINBURGH, Jan. 15.—(CP)—A proposed speech at a political meeting here last night by Lieut. Hugh Lawson, who won last week's Skipton, Yorkshire, by-election for the Common Wealth party, was banned by the war office which said regulations require a commanding officer's permission for a serviceman in parliament to speak outside his own constituency.

A debate in the House of Commons over the ban appeared likely as Lawson said he intended to raise the issue when he takes his seat in parliament on the next sitting day.

The 31-year-old Lawson at first said he intended to speak dressed in civilian clothes but he obeyed the ban at the request of the party and his wife took his place on the platform.

Lawson, who defeated the government candidate, H. Riddiough, Conservative, by 12,222 votes to 12,001, sat with the audience.

Lawson said he applied to his command for permission to speak but was refused under the war office order.

Discover Particle Causing Meningitis By New Microscope

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Discovery by the electron microscope of a tiny particle, barely half a millionth of an inch in diameter, which causes one form of meningitis, was announced by the Electron Microscope Society of America here yesterday.

The society held its first annual meeting, starting yesterday at Columbia University, to compare notes on the strange and almost incomprehensible things which this new eye, which can magnify up to 100,000 diameters, is bringing to light.

The new particle was reported by Dr. Gregory Schwartzman of Mount Sinai Hospital, New York City. It is the cause of lymphocytic choriomeningitis. Other forms of meningitis are caused by bacteria.

Dr. Schwartzman said the particle is a virus.

C.C.F. Prepares Plans in Case Party Is Elected

and financial press attacking the C.C.F. were evidence that "the vested interests are thoroughly alarmed" at the prospect of the party winning the federal election.

"Because this is so obvious the common man in greater numbers joins our ranks."

AIM OF PARTY

The C.C.F. aim was to replace the present capitalist system with its "injustice and inhumanity" with a social order from which exploitation of one group by another would be eliminated and in which economic planning for abundance would supersede unregulated private enterprise.

"We do not believe in change by violence," Mr. Coldwell said. "In Canada both the old parties, Conservative and Liberal, have been and are merely instruments of capitalist interests which finance their campaigns and control their policies."

"Their purpose is to divide the people and serve the economic interests that control them."

BECOMES POLITICAL ISSUE

In 10 years the C.C.F. had become the major political issue in Canada, but inadequate funds prevented the party taking full advantage of a favorable situation, while its opponents were financed by the corporations, some of which were subsidiaries of parent companies in the United States.

The C.C.F. did not intend to allow any corporation, native or foreign, to rob Canada of prosperity. National planning to develop resources was required. But the C.C.F. did not believe that everything should be owned and operated by the state.

It distinguished between two kinds of property—that upon which the life and general welfare of the community depended and which should be socially owned, and that which ministered to the welfare of the individual and family and did not interfere with the general economic plan and thus should be individually owned.

"We do not intend to socialize merely for the sake of socializing but in order to secure efficiency and the greater satisfaction of social needs," Mr. Coldwell said.

Canada desired the closest relationship with the United States and nations of the British Commonwealth, but also desired to assist in the formulation of plans for a new world association of nations.

The C.C.F. would like to see Canada join the Pan-American Union

Kaiser Is Mooted As U.S. President

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Vandor Gray, Chicago attorney, said yesterday he had opened headquarters here of the Henry J. Kaiser for President club. The purpose of the organization, he added, was to seek the nomination of Kaiser, widely-known industrialist and ship-builder, by the Republican National convention.

as an association making for the larger world unity, and also because it believed that progressive forces were stirring among large masses of the people in Latin America.

Mr. Coldwell said his plea was that leaders of progressive thought in the United States find ways and means of having their country join with and lead the democratic and progressive forces of the world.

"It seems to me that if you fail in this the United States, perchance North America, may become the lonely, isolated, tariff-barricaded and last remaining citadel of an outworn economic system," he continued.

U.S. LED PROGRESSIVES

"In 1776 you led the Progressive forces of mankind. Because of it you had the sympathy and warm support of many across the seas. From your example then sprang the political revolutions in France, Great Britain and in many other lands. Now millions of workers, farmers, peasants and plain people seek to make real the political democracy we have by achieving the economic democracy we lack."

Mr. Coldwell said that between the C.C.F. and the Communists there was "more than one fundamental difference." The Communists had sought to destroy the C.C.F. because it was democratic. The C.C.F. believed that any attempt to unite groups that differed fundamentally could only bring disaster to democratic movements. Communist "contortions" before and during this war had been amazing.

"Freak" Attack On Movie House Takes 7 Lives

years that a known German plane was able to get as far as suburban London without detection by the elaborate coast defence radio location system.

An adjoining grocery store also was hit by the bomb which screamed down shortly before midnight. Properties were destroyed in suburban London.

There were indications that only one enemy plane came over.

Wreckage in the store was much heavier than in the movie-house and some observers thought that perhaps the bomb struck a girder before landing inside the theatre.

More than 3,000 people were in the theatre when the explosion occurred just after the finish of the feature picture, "Winterline," starring Sonja Henie.

CALMED BY USHERS

The theatre manager through a microphone on the stage told the audience to remain seated until the lights were put on and then advised them to leave. Some tried to depart while the manager was speaking but three young girl ushers calmed them.

The theatre lobby became an emergency casualty station. A score of ambulances arrived within minutes.

Police said reports showed all were civilian casualties except one British soldier. Many of these injured were hit by fragments of flying debris.

LONDON, Jan. 15. — (CP) — With a terse communique which said "enemy aircraft dropped bombs at a place in the London area," the air ministry put an official blanket of silence over one of the war's oddest attacks, the bombing last night of a theatre by a lone mystery plane.

Home security and air ministry officials indicated there would be no official elaboration on the surprise attack and the failure to sound an alert. They noted that it was not the first time that lone enemy planes had penetrated the defence screen unannounced. With R.A.F. bombers and night fighters patrolling, the raider apparently had escaped detection by a fluke.

Target For Today: A German Sub

This German submarine was in for plenty of trouble when it was spotted, somewhere on the surface of the Atlantic, by three U.S. Navy Liberators and two Army planes. During the first of a series of attacks, a depth bomb—indicated by arrow at lower right—whistles toward the frantically dodging U-boat. Another charge has just exploded near the enemy, which eventually was crippled and sunk.

Japs Claim Heavy Allied Plane Loss

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. — (AP) — A Japanese Imperial headquarters communique, broadcast by the Tokyo radio, said today that Japanese naval planes shot down 47, and possibly 18 more, out of approximately 160 Allied bombers which bombed Rabaul yesterday morning. There was no Allied confirmation.

Three Japanese planes were listed as lost. Formations of Japanese naval planes bombed Allied positions at Torokina Point and Munda last night and early today, the communique said.

Develop Technique Department of Labor Begins Close Study of Methods for Removing Manpower Controls

By JACK WILLIAMS

OTTAWA, Jan. 15. — (CP) — With Canada's compulsory manpower regulations apparently at their peak, extensive study of the methods to be used in removing Canada's manpower control regulations has been undertaken by Labor Department and National Selective Service officials.

"As far as we can see no new compulsory regulations will be required," Arthur MacNemara, director of National Selective Service, told The Canadian Press today.

While there is no indication that control are to be immediately slackened, departmental officials are giving considerable attention to developing techniques which will be required when the manpower war needs relax.

SOME STEPS TAKEN

Already steps have been taken along this line, particularly in the placing of the great majority of the 2,500 workers laid off at the Nobel, Ont., explosive plant in other jobs.

When the inevitable general slow-down of war production comes, the problem will be accentuated and will have to be handled on a much larger scale.

Selective Service regulations have been largely administered through the chain of government-operated employment offices.

Although a shortage of some 100,000 skilled workers still exists in top priority industries some lay-offs have taken place and it is recognized that with the end of the war these offices, instead of being primarily concerned with finding men to fill jobs, will face the task of finding jobs for men.

COMPLICATED PROBLEM

One of the complicated problems will be the return to their previous occupation of workers who, under compulsory transfer regulations, have been shifted from less-essential occupations to war or other high-priority jobs.

In some cases, for instance, men have been taken from hotels and placed in war industries. They may, subsequently, have shifted to another war plant.

The compulsory regulations provide that if they are moved under selective service orders they are assured their original jobs back when their services are no longer required for war work.

Serious administrative problems are also likely to arise from enforcement of the act passed by parliament in 1942 providing for the reinstatement in civil employment of members of the armed forces.

This act requires employers, in all cases where it is reasonably practical, to re-employ men now serving in the forces under conditions "not less favorable" than would apply if they had remained in their civilian employment during the war.

Fly Blood Plasma For Texas Child

BOSTON, Jan. 15. — (AP) — Twenty units of blood plasma were aboard a special plane to Texas today for four-year-old Billy Meers in hospital at Dallas.

The plasma units were obtained from the Boston city hospital blood bank after the youngster's supply was cut off by the Baylor hospital, Dallas, blood bank with a statement that further transfusions would not be given until donors paid off a 100-pint deficit.

As soon as young Billy's plight became known—he is suffering from a kidney ailment termed chronic nephritis by the medical profession—the Boston Herald-Traveler arranged for shipment of the 20 plasma units and said that 130 other Bostonians had volunteered blood donations.

The plasma units, necessary for the maintenance of young Billy's life, were shipped aboard a plane donated by the American Airlines.

City Liberals Won't Attend Calgary Meet

in the Corona hotel, there was still room for more to be appointed.

Neil D. Maclean, K.C., president of the Liberal body, asked for discussion on the letter, and James Morrison, seconded by D. Lynch, immediately moved a resolution calling for its tabling.

Hugh John Macdonald, K.C., M.L.A., in discussion on the motion, read a letter from H. J. Montgomery of Wetaskiwin, president of the Alberta Liberal Association, which detailed decisions of a general council meeting of the Liberal Association of Alberta, held at Calgary last June. It was at this meeting that a resolution was passed expressing readiness to co-operate with parties and groups opposed to the present provincial government, through the offices of the Independent Citizens' Association.

"There is no doubt that the convention to be held in Calgary will be attended by a large number of Liberals," Mr. Macdonald said, after he had read the letter. I cannot see what harm could come from sending Edmonton Liberals to the convention. In view of the fact that many Liberals are going to attend, I think it would be wise to have representatives there."

Mr. Morrison, who had proposed the motion, then said it looked to him as if 95 per cent of delegates at the general council meeting at Calgary last year were from Calgary itself.

"How in the name of all that's great and good can a man go to a Union meeting, and come back the next day and be a Liberal?" Mr. Morrison asked.

"The trouble with the Independent party is that it is composed of city lawyers," Charles D. Blair commented.

J. Boyd McBride, K.C., next speaker, said he was ready at all times to oppose any movement which would eliminate the Liberal party.

DIFFERENT STORY

"The Independents who wanted to wipe us out have gone out of the picture, and now we have a different story," Mr. McBride stated. "I think we would be making a very great mistake if we said we would not join in a movement for the betterment of our province."

"This meeting ought to consider answering the letter (from Mr. Page) in the spirit in which it is written."

Mr. Grant then moved an amendment to the Morrison motion, "I never had much use for Independents or unity," he said, in reminding executive members that the Liberal association of the province had passed a motion suggesting readiness to co-operate with the Independents.

AGAINST PARTICIPATION

Mr. Grant's amendment, seconded by Miss Laurette Carrigan, read: "That in view of the fact that the provincial Liberal association has passed a resolution suggesting co-operation with the Independent party but the form of the co-operation has not been provided for, and as each constituency is autonomous, the form of co-operation must be left to the respective constituencies."

"Be it resolved that the form of co-operation by this constituency shall be hereafter determined, and that it would not be met for this Liberal association to participate in the selection of a leader for the Independent party."

Many Liberals are supporting the Independents, and that group deserve a lot of consideration, Mr. Grant declared. "It is the cause we are acting for, and we want to do our best for the country. We may lose today and win tomorrow, but it will make little difference if we win in the end."

"The Independents are not the same as we are. If we don't like the Independents' platform, we can turn it down. Their platform will not be our platform in its entirety."

"But we can't turn the Independents down cold. We want to co-operate and treat them courteously."

Mr. Maclean commented: "While we want co-operation, I feel like Churchill. I was not elected president of this association to preside at its ruin."

Following the vote on the motion as amended by Mr. Grant, the meeting was adjourned. Thirty persons attended.

Four gallant members of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, who were wounded during fierce fighting in Sicily last summer are shown in the upper picture just after they stepped from a train at the C.P.R. station here Monday afternoon. From left to right are: Pte. E. J. Lytle, Ashmont; Pte. W. Sutherland, also of Ashmont; Pte. T. J. Forbes, Peers, and Pte. W. Brodyk, Smoky Lake. Ashmont is about 110 miles northeast of Edmonton. Peers is about 60 miles west of this city and Smoky Lake is about 60 miles northeast of Edmonton. They returned to Canada aboard the hospital ship Lady Nelson.

Regulations forbid individuals sending newspapers overseas. The Edmonton Bulletin prints the news of the week in letter form. Clip it out and send it to your loved ones and friends.

Dear

All Edmonton is talking about the exploits of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment in Italy. Citizens are proud of the part being played by members of this famous local unit of the Canadian Army—and their fame has spread to the United States. In a recent issue of Time Magazine considerable space was devoted to the brief presented by the Regiment to Col. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, on post-war reconstruction. There was quite a bit, too, about the high fighting qualities of officers and other ranks of the unit.

Walter Winchell, noted U.S. radio commentator, also paid high tribute to Canadians fighting in Italy. "The Nazis have learned the Canadians combine the fighting qualities of the Anzacs, Guardsmen and Texans. The Germans have learned that the man who attacks like an Anzac, holds like a Guardsman and fights like a Texan is a Canadian," Winchell said.

January 10

After several spring-like days which followed Edmonton's first cold snap, Monday's temperatures again sank below the zero mark. The recent election in Red Deer provincial constituency cost approximately $2,800 it was stated Monday by Robert A. Anderson, chief electoral officer for the province. Johnny Houghan, one-time Canadian ski champion, will instruct members of the No. 2 (Res.) Armored Division Ordnance Workshop and supervise all ski training for that unit.

Conditions in the coal fields throughout the district have been stabilized through the finding of the O'Connor royal commission, so that there is no possibility of difficulties arising from further wage disputes from miners, Robert Livett, Calgary, president of the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, stated Monday.

Edmonton Athletic Club played a 3-3 tie with H.M.C.S. Nonsuch in the Junior Hockey League game Saturday. H. S. A. Johnson, new manager of the Hudson's Bay Company store here, arrived in Edmonton Monday to commence his new duties. More than 300 members of the famed 49th Battalion, C.E.F., of the First Great War, with distinguished guests and some invited friends, gathered for the annual banquet in the main dining-room of the Macdonald hotel Saturday. High praise and deep pride in the accomplishments of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment were voiced by many. Maj.-Gen. W. A. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., original officer commanding the 49th, said, "I will go so far as to say they are as good as we were, and I cannot say any more."

More than 1,200,000 Canadian women are now gainfully employed as compared with 600,000 in 1939. Mrs. Rex Eaton, Ottawa, associate director of National Selective Service, said here Monday. Group Capt. Valentine H. Patriche, recently posted to the command of the Northwest Staging Route, R.C.A.F., here, has arrived from eastern Canada.

January 11

Four members of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment who were wounded during the fierce fighting in Sicily, returned to Edmonton from overseas Monday afternoon. They were: Pte. E. J. Lytle, Ashmont; Pte. W. Sutherland, also of Ashmont; Pte. T. J. Forbes, Peers, and Pte. W. Brodyk of Smoky Lake. The men were greeted by W. J. Williams, secretary-manager of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion. "Life in Sicily and Italy under wartime conditions makes a fellow appreciate Canada, The Loyal Edmonton Regiment is tops—best in Italy today"—these were a few reactions expressed by the returning veterans.

The Alberta government has been asked by the Alberta School Trustees' Association to take over 50 per cent of the total cost of operation of Public and High schools in the province. Long-time resident of this city, Charles Munton, well-known auctioneer and businessman, died Tuesday morning at his home at 10224 99 street. He was 56 years old.

Edmonton, second ranking city in the Dominion for the total of construction work in 1943, got away to a flying start this year when the United States Engineers took out a permit Tuesday for $1,314,000, and the department of national defence one for $13,000. Home owners whose taxes prior to 1940 are in arrears will have until June 1, 1944, to apply for a consolidation of these taxes, if a by-law sponsored by Ald. James H. Ogilvie is passed by the city council.

The Edmonton office of the Unemployment Insurance and Selective Service Commission ranks fifth among all employment offices in Canada in the number of applicants handled in the past year.

False Fire Alarms

To combat the undue prevalence of false fire alarms in Edmonton, it has been suggested to the city council that some device be employed to hold the alarm-ringer to the box until the arrival of the fire department.

The suggestion was not made entirely in jest, because it was pointed out that some such mantraps are in use in parts of the United States. The objection to any such mechanism, however, is fairly obvious. A man might stand with his wrist in a handcuff to prevent his own house from burning down, but he certainly would not endure such indignities for the sake of anybody else's property.

The remedy for this foolish game of ringing false fire alarms is to make it more expensive.

It is probably true that campaigns telling exuberant young people that this practice is wrong and wasteful and dangerous have very little effect. But a substantially increased penalty, with a jail sentence instead of a fine, always materially cools the zeal of practical jokers.

It would only be necessary to send a few false alarmists to jail and the silly practice would soon be minimized.

Does Export Trade Matter?

Canada has doubled its farm production during the war years. That of course is a remarkable achievement, remembering that hundreds of thousands of men have been drawn into the fighting forces and that industrial production has expanded even more than farm output.

But the practical consideration is that if we are going to go on producing crops and stock and stock products at the present rate in post-war years, one of two things must happen. Either the consumers in the Dominion must double or we must continue to ship abroad approximately as great a volume of farm products as we are now exporting.

That our population will not double in a year or in five years is certain. There remains only the choice of maintaining our present place in foreign markets—or of curtailing farm production. Curtailment would pay no dividends of any sort, and would throw the nation's economic machinery into a violent slow-down. If we are to have such conditions as full employment and general prosperity, the export of grain and stock and their products on something near the present scale is imperative. We simply must have customers abroad for about half the total output of the farms.

It follows that trade policies and financial policies will have to be shaped deliberately with this end in view. Tariff theories, sectional interests, class clamors, will have to be ignored when they run counter to the all-important purpose of selling in other countries something like 50 per cent of the wheat and hogs and cattle and dairy products and other things which come from the Canadian farm.

Old Names Come Back

Minsk and Pinsk, words so familiar to readers in the early years of the First great war, are coming back into the news. Both cities stand on railway lines running from Moscow to Warsaw—the route of Napoleon's disastrous retreat.

Mozyr, captured Friday by the army of White Russia, is toward the eastern end of the Pripiet Marshes, a name which readers of First great war news will also recall. Having lost Mozyr, the next practicable stopping place for the retreating Nazis will be Pinsk, 135 miles to the west. Between lie the marshes, now frozen, offering no natural defence positions.

Rather less far to the west of Pinsk is Brest-Litovsk, where the Russians were compelled to sign a treaty with the Germans in 1918. This city is on the Curzon line, accepted in 1919 as marking the boundary between Poland and Russia. The boundary at the beginning of the present war lay far to the east. The fighting north of the Marshes is now in territory taken from Russia by the Poles subsequent to 1919.

To the south of the Marshes a column of the first Ukraine army has captured Sarny and is pushing westward, threatening to cut off the retreat of the enemy through the frozen swamps. Thus while farther south the Red army is hemming in huge Nazi forces between the Dnieper and the Bug, these co-ordinated advances on either side of the Marshes are driving wedges through the middle of the enemy line and setting the stage for another pincers operation.

The fighting has been severe, and likely to be exceptionally so, for these Russian columns are pushing along the road that leads through Warsaw to Berlin. For reasons of morale, as well as from military considerations, the Nazis are bound to muster all the strength they can to stop the Russian advance along the route that stands associated with the downfall of Napoleon.

Christian Mission

The first University Christian Mission in Canada will visit the University of Alberta from January 23 to 26 inclusive when five distinguished speakers will present the claims of the Christian Faith to the students of that institution.

These speakers are Chancellor George Gilmour of McMaster University, Bishop Remington of Eastern Oregon, Miss Gertrude Rutherford of Toronto, Mr. Hugh MacMillan of Toronto and Dr. Leslie Kilborn, Dean of the West China Mission School.

The University Christian Mission project is the joint result of the deliberations of representatives from the Church of England in Canada, the Church of Christ, the Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches, the Salvation Army and the Student Christian Movement. Its purpose is to lay before Canadian students everywhere the doctrines of the Christian religion and to secure their active allegiance to that religion.

Although this technique of propagating the Faith is new in Canada, the universities in the British Isles and in the United States have been acquainted with it for some time.

There are two essential points to be noted with regard to the University Christian Mission.

The first is that the war has shown that our civilization is essentially a Christian civilization and that the minute it ceases to be Christian it ceases to be civilization at all.

The second is that unless our educational institutions are basically Christian there is little chance of maintaining the Christian nature of our civilization.

In brief, our social, political and international future is inextricably bound up with the Christian influence wielded by our universities and schools. The Christian principle, which is the safeguard of our civilization, must begin with and permeate our educational system.

In the light of that understanding the University Christian Mission is carrying on a vital work whose importance is so vast that it has not yet been recognized.

Christianity cannot be set apart in a chronological or psychological compartment. It is a dynamic and practical asset in the everyday business of living.

Admiral Halsey says he'll "never gaze into the crystal ball again." Upwards of a year ago he took a look into the deceptive orb and thought he saw Tokyo occupied by Allied troops before the end of 1943. That did not come true of course, but the mistake was only as to time. The occupation is coming, very largely because of what the Admiral and his associates in the South Pacific are doing. When is not the essential question.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1894: 50 Years Ago

W. Vogel caught a large golden eagle last week near the forks of the White and Black Mud creeks. Sgt. Dunning of the Edmonton detachment of the police, leaves next week to take charge of the post at Red Deer. Sgt. Hetherington replaces him here.

R. Goulet, of the Dominion lands office at Winnipeg, arrived on last night's train to enquire into the matter of half-breed scrip claimed by the Jasper House band of Injous half-breeds. He was a member of the scrip commissions which visited Edmonton in 1885 and 1886.

Wm. Easton has built a carpenter shop on Rice street.

Prince Edward Island gave a large majority in favor of prohibition at the vote on provincial election day. Three provinces have now declared for prohibition, Ontario and Manitoba being the other two.

The Moose Jaw Times says that fully 125 per cent of the resident vote was polled at the recent school elections held there.

1904: 40 Years Ago

Tenders are being called for poles to erect a telegraph line from Edmonton to Athabasca Landing.

The Fort Saskatchewan Pork Packing Co. has been organized.

T. H. Hallett has bought Hutton's livery and feed stable.

Supt. Constantine of Fort Saskatchewan was in town yesterday.

St. Petersburg: The war situation is unchanged.

The outlook is for peace. The Japanese minister here says the points of difference with Russia are not worth going to war about.

1914: 30 Years Ago

Toronto: Senator Cox died here at the age of 73.

Following a clash in the cook shanty at the fair grounds, 200 unemployed men quartered there left the grounds and proceeded to the I.W.W. headquarters, refusing to accept work.

Plymouth: The British submarine A7 foundered off this port, her crew of 17 being all missing.

Montreal: Sir Hugh Graham has bought the Montreal Herald.

W. G. Carpenter has been appointed superintendent of Edmonton schools.

1924: 20 Years Ago

U.F.A. delegates voted down a resolution calling for a reduction of members of the legislature from 61 to 52.

Peter the Page, London's smallest and most important messenger, arrived in New York, en route to Washington to present President Coolidge with greetings from the British Empire Exposition.

Lloyds insured the messenger for $25,000.

Radio receiving sets have been installed on Canadian National passenger trains.

1934: 10 Years Ago

Montreal: "If the date of the Montreal municipal election is postponed, 100,000 Fascists in Montreal will hold their own elections, elect a mayor and as many aldermen as needed and take over the government of the city," leaders of the Canadian Fascist organization, the Quebec federation of labor clubs, told Premier Taschereau.

The premier replied that he did not take the threat seriously.

Philadelphia: Albert Einstein predicted here that Germany's (Hitler) "government under such crazy people cannot last."

Washington: President Roosevelt is ready to take over the largest heap of outstanding gold in the United States—that held by the Federal Reserve system—as a preliminary to permanent devaluation of the U.S. dollar.

Galling Greeting

Editor, Bulletin: From his pontifical chair the postmaster general recently sent a New Year message to his large and widely scattered flock. As an example of sanctimonious humbug and cant it must be almost without precedent. It manifests itself as a cruel mockery and also a studied insult to those loyal servants whose sincerity of aim and purpose has never been called in question.

If each individual of the postal service is to consider himself or herself as an indispensable link in a national and international chain of service to cheer and delight those of our children and near relations who are now engaged in a long and bitter conflict, one of whose announced purposes is to ensure that Canada's high standard of living shall not perish from the face of the earth, then Mr. Mulock, I unhesitatingly aver, that it is your bounden duty to make it impossible for me to state, as I now truthfully can, yet with bitter distaste do:

"Some who do this loyal service, on the prairies bald and bleak, For their sixty hours on duty, now are paid two bucks a week."

They also serve who only hope and wait!

Polish Frontiers

Editor, Bulletin: A clipping from your newspaper with a letter to the editor by F. A. Nicholas, published on December 8 has recently been brought to my attention. Under the editorial caption "Polish Question" the author of the letter makes the statement that "Poland had in the first place seized the territory from Russia by force while Russia was too exhausted and in a position that made it too dangerous to resist."

Mr. Nicholas should be reminded that in 1920 Poland recovered part of her territory which was seized from her by Catherine the Great of Russia in 1772. It is true that the Soviet Union was much weaker in 1920 than it is today. But Poland was, in a stronger degree than Russia, exhausted—after four generations of dismemberment, four years of the World War fought on her territory, followed by two years of her war with the Soviet Union.

After 123 years of foreign occupation she had to organize her administration, her army, her political, economic and cultural structure. So it was not the case of a strong Poland against weak Russia. And not the case of seizure but of recovery.

Christianity in Peril

Editor, Bulletin: As the title implies Christianity in Peril by Dr. Andrew Osborn is a message for Christian men and women and the churches in particular. It should be read and studied by all thinking people for the scope and purpose of this book is broad in outlook and application.

The preface declares: "A new and radically different world is coming into being. The First World War produced a great change, the present conflict will cause greater ones. In some real sense there will be a new order, but when questions are asked how it is to be established, upon what foundations it is to be built, and by whom? the answers given are varied and confused."

Writing of Germany Dr. Osborn continues: "This Germanic faith is obviously dynamic in character. It is even dynamic in the ruthlessness of its enthusiasm. Suffering and tragedy are realities which the Germanic soul regards with unadverted eyes."

A significant paragraph is: "Great Britain frankly acknowledges that grave social inequalities and injustices must come to an end, and that the haunting fears of unemployment and want must be banished. In this acknowledgment there is a tacit admission that the failure to deal with unemployment and to practice social justice was a contributing factor to this second world war. Those who had the power and knowledge to effect reforms did not do so."

Again we read: "War is due to the violent disruption of moral order by rebellious forces, and since rebellion is of various kinds, it follows that transgressions of various kinds may, and do work together to cause war."

Readers of Christianity in Peril will be amply repaid in reading this book of 188 pages. Much light is thrown upon many matters difficult for the lay mind to understand.

There does exist a state of unlimited emergency and Dr. Andrew Osborn has successfully endeavored to clarify many grave and urgent problems.

Monetary Reform

Editor, Bulletin: I read in your issue of Dec. 28th that the men of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment have submitted a brief to the Hon. Mr. Ralston on needs for demobilization. These were prepared by a study group organized by their padre, Major Edgar Baily, and all to the good except that they recommend national security along the lines of the Beveridge plan.

This looks like at least a premature recommendation. The group have evidently been uninformed that to bring in successful rehabilitation after the war there will have to be monetary reformation and that the Beveridge plan is based on the present monetary system and can only mean a distribution of poverty. It would be a blessing if every battalion had a study group, explaining the true cause of our wars and the part for which our present monetary system is responsible.

Our boys are going to win the war and these study groups can do just as important a work in helping to win the peace but their studies must start at the A.B.C. of economics. What an opportunity to instruct these groups. Who will accept the responsibility?

Insurance Rates

Editor, Bulletin: In my opinion Mr. Coldwell is a few years late in looking into the profits of the insurance companies, as the Alberta government says that a few years ago and has remedied it, and very successfully too, and without state monopoly.

The result is that today the people of the province buy fire insurance for half or less than half of the rate they paid prior to the government going into the insurance business.

Did Mr. Coldwell ever think of this great saving the people of the province are and have been making during the last few years, which runs into thousands of dollars, and which everyone shares whether we insure with the government or not?

To verify my statement, look up your insurance policy issued by the line companies prior to the government going into the insurance business and one issued now, and compare the premium rates. The result will be a wonderful eye-opener.

If Mr. Coldwell is angling for votes, he will have to find some other bait, as the insurance problem is completely solved. Hats off to the Alberta government.

The young man had just proposed to the most beautiful girl in the world. She had accepted him, and now he stepped into a jeweler's to buy an engagement ring. He examined various rings, and finally picked up a beautiful diamond affair that suited his fancy.

"What's the price of this?" he inquired. "That," replied the assistant, "is $150."

The young man's eyes popped. He whistled loudly and long, then pointed to a second ring.

"And this one?" he asked. "This one, sir," said the assistant, eyeing the price tag, "is two whistles!"

The Polish-Russian Question

Ethnic Considerations of Little Consequence in Situation

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

If the Russian-Polish controversy were chiefly a question of drawing ethnographical frontiers, a number of solutions might appeal to the reason of both parties. But the ethnographical question is not primary. The issue is much more profound.

The Soviet Union is not a national state. Because the empire stretching from the Baltic Sea to the Pacific Ocean was always called Russia, we still refer to the Soviet Union by this name. Actually it consists of six federated republics, three composed of Slavonic peoples, numbering over seventy per cent, of the population, with Russian predominating and Ukrainians the next largest group. A quarter of the one hundred sixty-nine ethnic groups do not clearly belong to white peoples.

Thus, though it is possible though difficult to draw ethnic frontiers for a Polish national state, it is not possible to draw them on the same principles for the non-national Soviet Union. It is this fact that could make Soviet expansion disquieting. For there is no "natural" stopping place for it on purely ethnographical grounds as there is none for the British empire.

The western or Polish Ukrainians have had many troubles as minorities. Some of them, backed by the Soviet, have wanted to join their "racial comrades" in the Soviet Ukraine. Others, backed by exiled White Russians, some Poles, Germans and persons in western countries have wanted to assist in detaching the entire Ukraine from the Soviet Union. Propagandists for an independent Ukraine have made virtually anti-Soviet campaigns in the United States. Polish groups have hinted that the eastern problem should be solved by creating a great eastern federation under Polish leadership to include the Baltic and Danubian states, plus the Ukraine—a union of nations on the model of the Soviet but with a radically different social system and frankly regarded as a "cordon sanitaire" against the Soviet and a counter-balance to Germany.

The shifting of the Soviet frontier further west does little to improve the strategic position of the Soviet Union, but that is not the primary Soviet object, which is to end forever the possibility that the Polish Ukraine might be a breeding place for a Ukrainian separatist movement. The Ukraine has been an objective of three wars: Germany conquered it and detached it in the last war; Hitler fought the Soviet for it in this one; and the Poles were in Kiev in 1920.

The Soviet offer to the Poles of compensation at the expense of Germany is more astute than meets the eye. Such a "solution" would sow seeds of eternal dissent between Poland and Germany; create in Germany a violent anti-Polish irreverence; and prevent any possible Polish-German alliance, in some imaginable future.

That the Poles discuss the extension of their frontiers to the Oder, means that they, too, are not thinking of ethnographical frontiers, but of getting sufficient power to maintain absolute independence of either Russia or Germany. But it is dubious whether, in the long run, matters would fall out that way. It might just as likely happen that a powerful impetus would thus be created later to draw Russia and Germany together in a common hostility.

The Soviet attitude toward eastern Europe goes far beyond a readjustment of frontiers. The Soviet government knows that there are ideological differences between her conception of a social, economic and political order, and the conceptions dominating governing groups abroad. The Soviet Union has always expected to be attacked. But she has not counted on war originating from one quarter alone. It might have come, in Soviet reckoning, as easily from a Europe under Anglo-French domination, given certain types of government in power, as from a Europe under German domination.

Thus the Soviets will use every ounce of power they have, to see that no new threat can arise in any foreseeable future. The Soviet wishes a real understanding with the United States and Britain, but she will never put all her eggs in that basket either, pending the creation of a hard and fast genuine security system for she knows that governments and with them international policies can change.

Meanwhile, it is Soviet policy not to tolerate in any eastern European country, which might some time become a jumping off spot against her, any government not closely in sympathy with her. That is the real issue in Poland. A strong Poland can exist with Soviet benevolence if it can be counted upon not to jump the Soviet defence system. This is the situation, painful for conservative Poles who fear the extension of Soviet social ideas over all Poland, who gravitate toward the west and prefer to be in a western system.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

How Roosevelt Was Saved From Plot Against Life In Iran

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—At a safe distance from Tehran, the full story can now be told of the measures taken to protect the President from the plot against his life.

The message from Stalin, warning Roosevelt that Nazi paratroopers had come down in Iran, reached the American Embassy on the day of the President's arrival. Stalin himself had arrived the night before, and learned that 38 paratroopers had landed in the countryside, that 26 of them had been rounded up, but that 12 were still at large.

Since the Soviet and British Embassies were adjacent in one part of town, and the American Embassy more than a mile distant, it would be safer for all three leaders if they could be brought together and guarded by the same force. But the problem was how to get the President safely to the Soviet Embassy?

The problem was solved by a device of which the U.S. Secret Service may now be proud. The main route between the American and Soviet Embassies was guarded constantly by Persian police. Churchill had covered this route when he arrived, driving from the airport to the British Embassy. Secret Service men looked at the crowd of spectators lined up along the way, and shook their heads.

There were between thirty and forty thousand people—a motley mixture of races—in which a desperado might easily mingle without being noticed.

So Secret Service ordered out U.S. troops to supplement the Persian police—and then took another route entirely. When the Yank uniforms appeared, the whole town was sure the President would come that way. Thus, every other part of town was deserted.

Prisoner Secret service hustled the president into a car, and drove him down the side streets of the town, unobserved by anyone. They had tried to get an armored car, but there was no such equipment to be had in Iran. However, this journey and the return journey four days later, were safely executed.

At the Soviet embassy, during the four days of conferences, the president was a prisoner in his own quarters. He lived in the same building where the conferences were held, and did not venture outdoors at any time.

Another Secret Service worry was about the water supply. Tehran has no general sewage system or piped water supply. The water runs down from the mountains in open aqueducts, which many use as a semi-sewer. Fortunately, the British and Russian embassies were equipped with their own special pipe lines. But even this water was carefully tested before the big shots arrived.

Only members of the American party who got sick were some of the Secret Service detail, who experimented too freely with dishes of camel's meat.

Note—This assignment was by far the most difficult ever undertaken by Secret Service in guarding the person of any president. Chief of the detail was Michael F. Reilly.

Hull White-thatched conservative Senator Guy M. Gillette of Iowa had a private chat with Secretary of State Cordell Hull last week that would make headlines had the circumstances leaked out.

The Iowa Democrat put it up to Hull very bluntly that he should be the Democratic nominee for the Presidency this year.

Gillette is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and went to the State Department ostensibly to discuss international questions. However, the meeting quickly got down to some straight talk about politics.

After commending the 72-year-old Cabinet officer for the "national acclaim" he had won by his recent mission to Moscow, Gillette added that Hull was one of the few men who commanded the "respect and affection" of all factions of the Democratic party. Then he got down to brass tacks.

"Mr. Secretary," he said, "I don't suppose it is any secret that there are many members of Congress who would like to see you as the next Democratic nominee."

The Iowa added that he had been given to understand that President Roosevelt would not seek a fourth term, in which case Hull should feel free to accept the nomination.

Hull didn't say yes, and he didn't say no. He replied that he appreciated the compliment, but that he had no ambitions beyond that of finishing out his duties as Secretary of State and helping to win the peace. He also said he was getting pretty old and indicated that he would prefer to make no commitment, at least until the President had spoken out on a fourth term.

Gillette later told intimates that the Secretary's reply, no means closed the door against a nomination bid.

Note: Gillette's call on Hull coincided significantly with a behind-the-scenes movement by conservative Democratic senators—led by Senators Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, Bennett Clark of Missouri, Burt Wheeler of Montana and others—to promote a Hull-Gillette ticket at the Democratic convention.

Russians Courteous Soviet Ambassador Gromyko dropped in to see Relief Administrator Herbert Lehman, ex-governor of New York, the other day and said to him:

"I want you to meet your new deputy general, Mikhail Alekseevich Menshikov."

Governor Lehman murmured that he was delighted, chatted pleasantly for several minutes. Then the two Russians left.

Afterward, Governor Lehman, who is slightly hard of hearing, got to wondering about the "new deputy general." He wasn't quite sure that he had heard Ambassador Gromyko correctly. Particularly, he wasn't sure of what organization Menshikov was to be deputy general. Was it, by any chance UNRRA?

(United Nations' Relief and Rehabilitation Administration) for which Lehman is supposed to appoint the deputies.

So Governor Lehman called in his assistant, Phil Hammer, and asked him to find out. Lehman had already appointed Roy Hendrickson, of the Food Distribution Administration as one of his deputies, and Sir Arthur Salter, British economist and shipping expert, as another. He did not know that he was to have a Russian deputy also.

Hammer invited Menshikov to lunch. During the lunch, he didn't want to ask point blank of what organization his guest was deputy general, but he did his best to work round to the point diplomatically. Finally, he found out. Menshikov had been appointed by the Russian government to serve under Lehman as deputy general of UNRRA.

The Russians either had been very naïve in sending Menshikov over without any advance announcement, or else this was their way of gently notifying Governor Lehman that his organization was going to be one of the most important in the world and that they wanted Russia represented in a high-up post.

Whichever is correct, there is no question about the tremendous political power of the Relief Administration. By withholding food and clothing from Greeks who oppose the Greek king, for instance, Lehman could exert influence as to who would be the ruler of Greece. By sending food and clothing to Tito's followers in Yugoslavia, or by favoring Mikhailovitch's men, UNRRA could change the whole political picture in Yugoslavia.

No wonder the Russians carefully picked their man to sit at Governor Lehman's right hand and promptly sent him to Washington.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By REV. CHARLES G. STONE

Minister, Park Road Baptist Church, Toronto, Ontario

(Formerly of First Baptist Church, Edmonton)

Freedom of Worship

ON JANUARY 6, 1941, President Roosevelt addressed Congress on "The War Aims of the Democracies." He said, among other things,
"We are fighting for four basic freedoms—freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom from want, freedom from fear." Here is a summary of essentials. It is destined to stand out as one of the great statements of history. In it the President gave voice to the aspirations of earth's freedom-loving multitudes.

"Freedom of Worship" properly comes first. It is the most important of all because it goes to the roots of human life. What does "freedom of worship" mean? Surely that each person, being individually a child of God, standing in the same relation to God as every other person, has the right to direct approach to his Heavenly Father; no one may prevent him from coming to God or compel him to do so; no one may force him to make his approach in a particular manner; it is his own private affair so long as he does not harm or interfere with others in the exercise of this sovereign right.

This is not an arbitrary claim. It is a necessity, rooted in man's very nature. His choices must be his own. He must be free to make them himself. No one else's decision can make him good or bad. His character depends upon his being free to choose for himself. This was basically what John Smith was contending for in England, three hundred years ago, when he held that "The magistrate is not, by virtue of his office, to meddle with religion"—man must be free.
"Freedom of Worship" is a great heritage. It has been won at great cost. Centuries of struggle lie behind its attainment. When Tennyson sang of England as

"The land that freemen till;

"That sober-souled freedom chose," he knew that the freedom that was the glory of England had been purchased with the blood of England's sons. Many precious lives have been sacrificed upon its altar.

But it has been left for twentieth century fascist states to offer the most serious and definite challenge to freedom of worship which it has ever encountered. That challenge is summed up by one sentence from Alfred Rosenberg's thirty-point plan for the national Reich Church in Germany, "The national Reich Church of Germany categorically claims the exclusive right and power to control all churches within the border of the Reich." Here the individual is not free. The state regulates his religion. He worships as the state dictates. Here is one of the major issues in this present struggle.
To recover and preserve freedom of worship for everyone, free men are giving their lives; free nations are pouring out their wealth; and we shall fight on until this right is secured.

But one must go a step farther. An honest observer of the state of religion in Canada today must admit that vital religion faces an even more serious threat than that of national socialism: it is to be found in the failure of great masses of her citizens to exercise the privileges of this dearly-bought freedom. It is not that men are being deprived of the privilege to worship God according to their desires but rather that they are not taking the trouble to worship Him at all.

It may be worth while recalling that the reason for the growth of fascism was that men in the countries concerned despised democracy.
They would not accept their responsibilities as citizens. They wanted someone else to take the responsibility. Accordingly, someone else did. He rose up and took control of their entire lives. This tendency also showed itself strongly in democratic countries. The disposition of great multitudes was to say, "Democracy is inept." "It is dead."
"Let us have something that gets things done." So people despised their heritage of freedom. Only the excesses of the dictator roused us to our danger. The same tendency is seen in the realm of religion.
Professor R. J. McCracken, in an address before a religious body in Canada last June, asked the question, "Are we in danger of confusing freedom of religion with freedom from religion?" This is a real danger. "Freedom of conscience," says the Archbishop of Canterbury, in his recent book, "The Hope of the World," "does not mean freedom to do as I choose but freedom to do as I ought." If the free men of Canada do not wish to see religion die out from their midst, as democracy died in Germany, they must realize that freedom of worship is a sovereign right—but it is also a great responsibility. It can only be consummated when it is exercised.

H. Bruce Stainton will preach on "The Four Square Gospel" at the morning service in Central Church of Christ. In the evening his subject will be "How a Church Grows."

"Life" is to be the topic of sermons delivered in the Christian Science church this Sunday.

"Fight the Good Fight" is the anthem to be sung at the morning service in All Saints' Cathedral and in the evening the choir will sing
"O Taste and See."

Regular services will be held in the Salvation Army Citadel Sunday.

A New Year service of Holy Communion will be held in Mc-Dougall United church at 11 a.m.
Sunday. At the evening worship

Answer the Call of the Sea

JOIN CANADA'S FIGHTING NAVY

There are gallant ships to be manned — cruisers, destroyers, frigates, corvettes, sub-chasers, mine sweepers — fast, rugged ships that have won their place among the navies of the world.

The Navy needs men who will choose the sea as their battleground — red-blooded young Canadians with an urge for salty adventure.

Join the men who are sending Axis subs scurrying from the Seven Seas — keeping the vital life lines of the convoy routes open for Allied shipping — escorting troop and supply ships to battle zones — engaging the enemy at sea wherever he can be found.

Canada is proud of her Navy and what it has accomplished. She will be prouder still of the job which is yet to be done.

Yes, already the Navy's trim, efficient and smart-looking WRENS have become a familiar sight in Canadian cities. They, too, are doing a vitally important work in our common task of speeding the hour of victory.

Today, there is a serious need for cooks, stewards and laundresses in the WRENS. The Navy must have help in these categories.

'Neutralizing' Bases U.S. Air Force Is Planning To Drive Japs from Pacific

By WILLIAM F. TYBEE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

HEADQUARTERS, 7TH U.S. AIR FORCE, Central Pacific, Jan. 15.—The 7th U.S. Air Force has "partially neutralized" two and heavily damaged three Japanese bases in the Marshalls and will intensify its offensive until the enemy "has been driven from the Pacific," Maj.-Gen. Willis H. Hale, commander, said yesterday.

"I can assure you that what we have done will be increased," Hale said.

Explaining that "neutralized" meant that major airfield installations had been destroyed and made inoperative, Hale disclosed that the 7th Air Force had been given the heaviest bombardment, and that Jaluit, Kwajalein, Wotje, Nauru and Maloelap atolls had been raided many times.

Hale said that the 7th Air Force had been making the longest distance flights of any war theatre—averaging 2,431 miles on each raid, comparable to a flight from London to North Africa and back again non-stop without landings.

"My boys on these missions are subject to greater strain than anyone else," he declared. "They are not getting fighter coverage and can't bail out over land."

"They face constant front of bad weather before reaching their targets," he added, saying that lessons learned in the Gilbert Islands campaign will be applied in the future.

The Japanese, since the Allied mid-Pacific offensive opened in mid-November, have strongly reinforced the Marshalls with fighter planes, Hale said. The planes were new and the pilots well-trained, he added.

"We started having planes shot down," he said, "and their ack-ack

Valuable Service Canada's Scientific Research For War at Peak in 1943

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—(CP)—The National Research Council, in a review of its operations, said today that scientific research in Canada probably reached the peak of its contributions to the armed services in 1943.

Science had served the forces in radio-location instruments and the optical glass for their manufacture; aerial photography and cameras; ballistic developments of importance in gunnery; new and powerful explosives; defence measures in chemical warfare; improvements in the design of nearly every item of clothing for special conditions such as tropical and arctic warfare, including flying and navy needs; nutrition, safe storage and transport of food, camouflage; design and construction of aircraft and tanks.

A new aviation fuel, motion sickness, special vaccines, air transport of wounded, and medicine in all its applications under service conditions had been studied.

TECHNICAL PROBLEMS

"Highly technical problems have arisen from anti-submarine warfare and minesweeping operations," said the review.

The council also had developed secret radio - locator equipment which was placed in the hands of the services.

"Tests have been made in a 900 horse power aircraft engine using cracked aviation type gasoline made by Canadian refiners. This investigation was followed by tests in flight for a period of three months. For use in training aircraft, fuel of this type has been found entirely satisfactory and a specification has been prepared. Canada is leading in this investigation which may materially assist in increasing the aviation gasoline supply."

Seeking substitutes in making parachutes, the council successfully developed a man-carrying chute using nylon in the canopy, shroud lines, tapes and sewing thread. Viscose rayon was used as a substitute for silk.

The council said:

"Investigations on modified curing practices for bacon resulted in the adoption of a standard cure by Canadian packers. Research on the drying of pork has yielded an excellent product which retains about 75 per cent. of its natural vitamin B1 content after cooking and drying."

METHODS ACCEPTED

"Specifications for the processing and storage of dried eggs prepared for the Special Products Board and the Canadian army have been accepted by these bodies as well as by the industry and the British ministry of food. Packages based primarily on fibre and wax combinations have been found useful. Dehydrated products require packing in waterproof materials."

Record of Radio Advertising Urged

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Silliman Evans, publisher of the Chicago Sun, yesterday suggested legislation requiring the recording of "every minute of broadcast, over every radio station, irrespective of the character of the program, the time, or the power of the station."

Evans made the suggestion in an address before the United States national council for professional education in journalism.

If false or misleading advertising has been run in a newspaper or if libel has been committed it is a matter of record in the newspaper, he said, and then added:

"Not so with the radio... it goes on the air, a credulous and unsuspecting public hears it, and buys the fraudulent cure-all. But a split second after the broadcast is made, no proof of fraudulent representation, or fake advertising, can be proven, except by hearsay, and that over the air."

LABOR STABILIZATION Order Is Criticized

WINNIPEG, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Local 832 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective Association (I.A.F.) has forwarded a letter to Prime Minister Mackenzie King criticizing the Dominion Labor Stabilizing Order P.C. 7440, R. C. McCutchan, union official, announced last night. The letter states the Dominion government has "completely removed the authority from labor boards to grant consideration to the salary and wage earners in connection with the cost of living."

District News in Brief

May Be Elections Manville District

MANVILLE—Unless acclamations occur in one or more of divisions two, three and seven in the municipal district of Minburn, there will be elections for councilors next March, William Ramsey, division two; William Revell, division three; and Lee McCollum division seven, have come to the end of their terms. Hospital representatives for the M.D. will be voted on at the same time, two for Manville and two for Viking.

Miss Janet Lucille Prill and Joe Edwin Nafziger were married in the United Church Manse recently. The Rev. K. C. McLeod officiated. The couple left for Calgary where they will reside. The groom is stationed there with the army.

Airman Drowned After 'Chute Leap

ST. MARYS, W. Va., Jan. 15.—(AP)—A British airman parachuted from his plane shortly before it crashed into a mountain-side yesterday, only to drown when he landed in the ice-clogged Ohio river near St. Marys, West Virginia, police reported. A second occupant of the plane parachuted safely to earth. A British air commission spokesman in Washington confirmed that two British fliers were involved in the crash, but declined further details.

Boy Slayer, Aged 17, Is Put to Death In Electric Chair

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Louis Vernon Hand, who had been a ward of the state for 15 of his 17 years in a children's home and boys' industrial school, was put to death by the state last night because he killed a six-year-old boy who "razed" him. He died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary, still maintaining a calm exhibited during his trial for the murder of Richard Stober of Mercer county last July 3.

Air Power Jet-Propelled Type of Airplane

By Maj. A. P. de Severaky

Announcement that British and American aviation engineers have successfully developed a rocket or jet-propelled type of airplane has stirred up immense interest. That interest is entirely justified. This is one of the most important technological advances made in this war. It is not only likely to have telling effects on the further course of the conflict but will influence deeply the whole future of flying.

Rocket propulsion, of course, is not a new thing; the basic idea is centuries old. As applied to aerial warfare, it was employed on a crude basis even in World War I. The Italians made public an experimental flight of a propellerless jet-type plane several years ago. Long before that, automobiles were driven by rocket engines and special rockets for making meteorological soundings in the stratosphere were in use.

Russia's anti-aircraft rocket (sprung as a surprise on the Germans at Stalingrad), her own "bazooka" against tanks, rocket catapults to help overloaded planes take off from the ground, the recent aerial rocket unloosed against us by German fighter planes—these are a few applications of an old and well-known principle of propulsion.

NEW HORIZONS

Nevertheless the Anglo-American jet-propelled airplane represents the broadest application of the principle yet achieved. It opens up immense new horizons for aviation both in the military field and in civilian flying. Ultimately it means a revolution in the concept of aircraft involving a tremendous increase in speeds and all-around performance.

A rudimentary example of a jet engine is the familiar rotating water sprinkler on your lawn. Because water under pressure escapes from the nozzle, or jet, it propels the wheel in the direction opposite to the flow of the water. In the jet engine, it is not water but gas which is emitted from the nozzle under high pressure. This pressure is generated by combustion of gases within the engine.

Rocket and jet propulsion belong in the same group of reactive motors, in that they both obtain their forward thrust by expelling gases under great pressure through jets. But there are extensive differences.

The rocket engine carries its own oxygen. This, as well as hydrogen and some inert gases, are pre-compressed in some instances in liquid form. As these gases are ignited, they expand and escape through the jet, pushing the rocket in the opposite direction. Contrary to the popular belief, the rocket engine does not work in spurts or a series of explosions but provides a continuous smooth flow of power.

SELF-CONTAINED

Since it is not dependent on the outside air, such a rocket engine is self-contained and, therefore, can function beyond our atmosphere. Theoretically, this is the kind of motor power that can take us even beyond the gravitation of the earth into inter-planetary space. Mechanically the problem is already solved. The rocket, however, is extremely extravagant on fuel consumption, so that it remains for thermo-chemistry to give us new fuels for sustained flight. After all, no one wants to go beyond the gravitation of the earth and not have enough fuel to get back.

The jet propulsion engine of the type just announced does not carry its own oxygen but uses the oxygen contained in the air. The conventional gasoline engine or gas turbine, instead of turning an airplane propeller, operates a mechanism which compresses the air. This is mixed with atomized fuels such as gasoline, kerosene, alcohol, or some other fuels of the hydro-carbon family, rich in hydro-

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Big Bill Hulse and brown-skinned Rudy Simms command the attention of track experts as they open the indoor running season tonight in the Grover Cleveland A.C. meet at the seventh regiment armory, because:

(1) Burly blond Hulse of the New York A.C. may establish a new indoor world record for the mile, before the season closes, and

(2) Simms may develop into the first truly great negro mile runner.

Lifts Suspension

Of Phil Watson

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Managing Director Mervin (Red) Duffin of the National Hockey League announced last Friday that suspension of Canadiens' centre Phil Watson "had been lifted after all circumstances had been taken into consideration."

Watson had been suspended after "having allegedly struck linesman Jim P. Meau" during a game at Toronto.

Six Games Already Played

Maple Leaf Bantam Loop Operates With Four Teams

THE bantam league sponsored by the Maple Leaf Athletic Club really got into full stride this week when they completed the sixth of their 18-game schedule played on the 96 street rink. Games are every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday between 7 and 8 o'clock.

The club has appointed coaches for each of the four teams and the team rivalry and enthusiasm shown by the boys bids fair to a very successful league.

Many of the over 40 boys show considerable talent both in team play and individual effort and it is given the opportunity some of them will be listed in the roster of the big leagues in about 1949 or 1950.

Amongst those who gave a good account of themselves in the first six games were Bill McPherson and Don Brown of the Bombers, sparking their team to two wins out of three starts. The first line of the Dynamiters, Bill McNally, Bill Page and Peter Carp were instrumental in putting the Dynamiters at the top of the heap, while Ed Barry and Harry Deldrick deserve mention for their defensive play.

Richard Christie, defence for the Bombers proved himself a tough man to get by and Billy Thomas of the Beavers shows considerable promise as a centre. Harry Krys and Albert Merdard of the Spitfires were also very effective.

Following list gives team personnel:

The Bombers—Ray Goss, Billy Thomas, Bob Stook, Gordon Thompson, Bill Xaney, Arnold Carnegie, R. Wiederspiel, J. Forest, Melvin Wells, Don Dingwall, Richard Kaplan, Bob McDonald.

A strengthened Bechtel, Price, Callahan team, playing considerably better basketball than in their previous engagements, gained their initial victory of the season last night by downing Aircraft Repair 21-14 in the first game.

Paul Kirk and "Chuck" Saffell led the winners' attack with six points each and Jack Kenton, new addition to B.P.C., also turned in a sparkling performance which netted him five counters.

The B.P.C.'s were unable to equal Aircraft Repair's effort in the first quarter, being out-scored 6-4, but came back in the second to add six to their rivals' five to trail by only one point, 11-10 at half time.

Play was close in the last half, but the winners, shooting with much better accuracy than the Aircrafts, added a total of 11 markers, seven in the third quarter and four in the last while they held the losers to three, two in the third and one in the fourth.

Aircraft Repair out-shot B.P.C. 31-31 in field shots, but only made four as compared to nine by the winners.

Reg. Threlfall Hints U.S. Clubs To Fill Breach

WINNIPEG, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Reg Threlfall has a suggestion for western football should eastern Canada fail to carry on a senior schedule next season.

At a windup meeting of the Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers, which he coached to the Dominion final last season, he advised competition with United States service or college football teams if eastern clubs do not participate in senior competition.

"There is an idea that football will not manage to carry on next season," he said. "You can be sure football will continue in the United States."

"What football in Canada needs right now is somebody who will declare himself in favor of a senior schedule and somebody who has the initiative to undertake plans for next season."

He said there were at least 15 United States teams within a radius of 1,000 miles that would be available for competition with Winnipeg teams.

Air Vice-Marshal T. A. Lawrence, Officer Commanding No. 2 Command, R.C.A.F., a guest at the meeting last night, said that no concessions had been permitted Air Force men on account of football.

"Each man had his particular job to do in the service," he said, "and football did not interfere in any way with this work."

Byron Nelson Shoots Hot 68 In First Round

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Racking up an eagle three and playing faultless golf except for one hole, Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, shot a four-under-par 35-68 Friday to lead the field at the end of the first round of the 72-hole $10,000 San Francisco open tournament.

Nelson, former national open and Professional Golfers' Association champion, was one of very few entries who took the long Harding Park public course to pieces during the opening round.

Others included Lloyd Mangrum, Monterey Park, Calif., who posted a 33-69, a score equalled by a local favorite, Art Bell, who tacked together nines of 36-33.

Journey Among Warriors

Field Marshall Wavell, Intent Upon Winning War, Says British Now Ready to Fight Japanese

Chapter XII.

By EVE CURIE

I was glad to follow the Cripps negotiations, not from a house where politics came first, but from one where it came last: that of General (now Field Marshal) Sir Archibald Wavell. This circumstance reminded me constantly that the winning of the war was, for now, what mattered above all. Politics, whether in England or in India, was not Wavell's business, and he seldom said a word about it. While the temperature in New Delhi went up in every sense of the word, while half-hysterical Indians screamed and yelled, the commander in chief, stopping his ears, tried to isolate himself from the surrounding turmoil in order to concentrate on his task; wage a war which, at the moment, went extremely badly.

At a time when every Nationalist in town was talking about a British political withdrawal from India, there was one thing that Wavell well knew: namely, that, in a military sense at least, the Allies had to stay in India at all costs. With the Japanese advancing from the east and the Germans preparing for a spring offensive against Russia in the west, India was a central stronghold of vital importance. Its fall might mean that the Germans and the Japanese would join hands and form a single front against the United Nations, stretching all the way from France to the islands of the South Pacific. Whether 390 million Indians finally turned for England or against England in case of a Japanese attack, Wavell's duty as commander in chief would remain the same: save India from Axis aggression.

Eve Curie

Right now, with insufficient forces and inadequate equipment, he waged a delaying action in Burma, while hastily organizing India's strategic defenses and looking after the fast-growing Indian Army. He worked all the time, commuting frequently between New Delhi, Calcutta, northern Burma, and Assam. Not a desk general, he was in a habit of seeing things for himself, with complete indifference to danger or to the lack of comfort. His record was full of narrow escapes, of plane crashes and enemy bombardments of every sort. In his vast, silent house the atmosphere was different from that of any of the official buildings in New Delhi—simply because a man lived there who, from morning to evening, toiled tenaciously, angrily, at winning the war. One could constantly feel this singleness of purpose, this tenseness.

DRESSED FOR DINNER
Invisible most of the day—when he was in New Delhi at all—the commander in chief suddenly appeared at mealtimes in the drawing room where Lady Wavell, his two daughters, the chief of the General Staff, General Sir Alan Hartley, and Lady Hartley, his aides-de-camp, and an occasional guest or two awaited him. At lunch, he wore khaki shorts and an open shirt. Like a good Englishman, he dutifully dressed for dinner in smart navy blue uniforms that made him look all at once, quite young. He had a very fine head, silvery hair, sturdy, manly features, and the healthy complexion of one who lived mostly out of doors. Because of his half-closed, expressionless left eye (that he had lost in the 1914 war) his face, at first, revealed little. But

Of the tragic developments of the war in the Far East, he said to me: "The plain truth is that we were not ready for war against Japan. All through 1941 we had to take great chances in the Far East in order to ship supplies to the Middle East and to Russia. But then, what could we do? These supplies were absolutely needed at the places where they were sent. After Pearl Harbor, after the loss of the Prince of Wales and the Repulse, we found ourselves outnumbered both in the air and on the sea in the Pacific area. For two months our troops fought, unprotected from the sky, in the treacherous terrain and climate of Malaya for which they had not been sufficiently trained. There was an average of six heavy raids a day on Singapore, in the last days of resistance."

CLOSE CO-ORDINATION
To Wavell, the paramount role played by bombers and pursuit planes in this war had not come as a surprise. He was one of the rare army generals who had always insisted on close co-ordination between land and air operations. Ironically enough, here he was now in India, in charge of a front where the Allies had temporarily lost air, naval, and land superiority—and knowing that those would have to be patiently regained, one by one. "Although it is obvious that our final objective in the East is to regain mastery of the seas," he explained to me, "air superiority is our essential, immediate goal. In narrow waters, the nation that controls the sky automatically controls the sea too. She can make the enemy navy powerless by the use of bombers and fighters operating from shore bases. At the start of the Pacific war we were temporarily lost control of both the sky and the sea. But we don't need to regain both before starting counter-attacks. Air superiority alone will allow us to check the enemy's advance and to retake the initiative on land."

CONSTANT SUBJECT
Air superiority was the constant subject of Wavell's conferences with the newly appointed commander of the R.A.F. in India, Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, who was a frequent caller at his house. Both Wavell and Peirse were obsessed by the idea—obvious enough, but not yet unanimously accepted—that to wage successful battles one needed men, machines, and arms. Both of them were counting the days, expecting supplies and planes from the west—supplies and planes that arrived slowly, in minute quantities. Both of them worked doggedly and talked little. I could feel that the lack of adequate war material, which made Peirse healthily impatient, made Wavell, at times, more than impatient: bitter. In this war he had been entrusted with a series of impossible tasks. In some, he had brilliantly succeeded and had saved the day. In others, he had had reverses—inescapable ones. He would mutter, sometimes, with a tense smile: "I seem to be always at the wrong end of the supply line."

On another occasion, as I mentioned to Wavell the strong popular demand for offensive action for "second fronts" that was mounting in China, in Russia, in

Four-Year Egg Contract With Britain Urged

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—(CP)—The National Poultry Conference last night recommended that a four-year egg contract with the United Kingdom be sought, with prices no lower than under the present one-year contract.

In approving reports drafted by committees during the last three days, the conference at its closing session also asked that a Dominion board be established to purchase poultry products surpluses.

The conference was attended by nearly 100 delegates from coast to coast.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Recommendations include steps to provide training in poultry husbandry for men and women leaving the forces, floor prices to the producer, study of post-war markets in the United Kingdom and Europe, prevention of poultry disease and advertising campaigns to maintain home markets after the war.

The merchandising committee report said that Canada should maintain major poultry and eggs production in a thriving condition. A continuation of the present contract system with Great Britain offered the best means of ensuring a stable market condition, and a long-term contract for eggs—four years if possible—should be sought.

Floor prices for poultry products should be established at least 12 months prior to the end of export contracts, payable to the producer on the basis of delivery at egg and poultry grading stations.

PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN

The best possible salesmanship should be provided to maintain a high level of poultry products consumption in Canada. A publicity campaign stressing the food value of these products should be synchronized with the falling-off in post-war demand.

The cost of advertising beyond that supported by the government would be borne by the industry. A committee should go to the United Kingdom to survey possible dried egg sales there after the war. All poultry should be sold on grade to maintain quality.

European Advisory Commission Meets

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP)—The European advisory commission, formed at the Moscow conferences to study European questions arising from the war, met formally for the first time yesterday and was presided over by United States Ambassador John G. Winant. Other members are Fedor Gusev, the Russian ambassador to London, and William Strang, representing Great Britain.

almost every country I had visited, a little spark of irritation came in the general's "good" eye. In a half-serious, half-humorous tone, he snapped:

"There is something I can assure you: Even more so than the civilians, the soldiers, and particularly the generals, prefer offense to defense, because the material and moral conditions of an offensive operation are almost always more favorable. Unfortunately, it just so happens that the word 'offensive' when translated into military terms, comes to mean 'large reserve of weapons.' This we have always lacked since the outbreak of hostilities. Never once, to this day, have we undertaken an offensive or a defensive campaign with a sufficient number of arms, ships, airplanes, and men. After the last war, and for many years, our countries favored only defensive strategy, defensive preparations. The word 'offensive' could not even be mentioned in England and France—let alone in America. Our ideas on the subject are fortunately changing."

R.C.A.F. "Beagle Boys" Speed Servicemen's Mail Through Algiers

"A combination of missing persons bureau, beagle, and friend from home" is the way these hard-working R.C.A.F. and Canadian Army postal clerks have been described. Working side by side in a section of the British Army base post office in Algiers, they handle mountains of mail for Canadians in North Africa, Gibraltar, Italy, the Middle East, Iraq, Iran and India. Their task is complicated by the frequent moves of men in the forces, but these men work all day and many nights till midnight, with grim determination to get every letter and parcel delivered in the shortest possible time. To that end, they particularly welcomed the inauguration shortly before Christmas of the R.C.A.F.'s new overseas air mail service. The picture at left shows a corner of the busy sorting room at Algiers. At the right, LAC J. S. MacLean of Pictou, N.S., seems to be enjoying his job as he hoists a mail sack into an R.C.A.F. truck.

pendence and integrity of his country can best be insured if Czechoslovakia falls neither under the predominant influence of eastern Europe nor under that of western Europe, the words which he spoke at Moscow when he signed the new twenty-year treaty of friendship and mutual assistance with Foreign Commissar Molotov, are of special significance.

Dr. Benes said: "The Soviet Union sincerely desires a strong, consolidated, fully homogeneous Czechoslovak republic which would be a truly good and strong friend, and a collaborator of the Soviet people in the future defense of a lasting peace in Europe."

"The same wish also applies to the future Poland. The Soviet Union not only desires good and friendly relations with her, but also a strong Polish-Czechoslovak friendship and collaboration."

The three great powers, "and particularly the Soviet Union, fully respect the independence of the smaller nations and state that they desire a strong Czechoslovakia, a strong Poland, a strong Yugoslavia and, of course, an independent Austria, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland."

MODEL FOR OTHER PACTS

It would be difficult to draw any interpretation from these words spoken by a Czechoslovak patriot of wisdom and experience and of proven devotion to the cause of the sovereign freedom of his own people than that both the Soviet government and the Czechoslovak government desire the new treaty to serve as a model for similar pacts between them and their neighbors of eastern Europe who are members of the United Nations, and that the president of Czechoslovakia believes that such agreements will guarantee the sovereignty and security of his own country as well as the sovereignty and security of the other countries adjacent to Russia.

It is regrettable, perhaps, as Mrs. McCormick has pointed out, that the two powers should have utilized a form of convention which bears the stigma of pre-1939 futility and to which resort, for purposes of deception, was made by Hitlerite Germany. It seems to me, however, that the outstanding consideration which will arise, if a series of agreements of this character are successfully negotiated, will be the fact that in such manner there would be created a regional system of eastern Europe.

Bearing in mind the history of the last twenty years, with specific reference to the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia, there is every reason why these two countries should take all possible precautions to insure their own future security by arrangements which will encourage the existence of independent, strong and, above all, friendly governments, supported by popular opinion in their vicinity.

As Mr. Lippman has indicated, Russia has just as legitimate a motive in favoring the creation of a regional system of well disposed, co-operative nations in her neighborhood as the United States has had in taking part in the formation of the existing inter-American systems of the Western Hemisphere.

AID TO LASTING PEACE

Such a development in eastern Europe would minimize the probability of an outbreak of constant disturbances in that area during the first post-war years. If such a regional organization were to be neither politically nor economically exclusive, and were effectively coordinated with a superior international executive authority representative of all nations, it would also help to bring about the lasting European peace which we hope to see established.

The "if" is all-important.

Were a regional system of eastern Europe to be employed merely as a counterpoise to the regional system of western Europe created under British auspices which General Smuts apparently favors there would at once arise the probability of a return to the old balance-of-power system, and, in such form, balance of power in a peculiarly dangerous guise. This development would inevitably imply the construction of political and economic "spheres of influence" for two of the great powers.

SAME DANGER

The same danger would exist, for that matter, if the existing inter-American system of the twenty-one American republics had been conceived, or were to be utilized, as a military or economic counterweight to Europe or the Far East. The existence, however, of regional systems functioning under the supervisory authority of an executive council of the future world organization composed of representatives of the major powers upon which must fall the responsibility for preventing war, together with representatives designated by all regions, would help to solve many difficult problems which might otherwise prove far less easy of solution if the United Nations created the new world organization on the strictly universal basis envisaged in the Covenant of the League of Nations.

I shall discuss the nature of these problems in succeeding articles.

Position of Allies Aided by Russian Attack on Finland

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The United States army takes the view that the Allied cause "would be weaker" now if Russia had not attacked Finland in 1939 and overrun the Baltic states. An official guide book states this as a "military fact" without any attempt to pass "moral judgments" on Russia's action. The book was issued for the guidance of information officers, editors of soldier papers and personnel in charge of orientation courses.

Year's Compulsory Training for Boys In States Urged

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—(AP)—To make certain that "individual liberties will be preserved," navy secretary Frank Knox last night advocated one year's compulsory military training "for every boy, when he attains the age of 17 or 18."

"There is no safety or peace in unpreparedness," Knox told the Cleveland Boy Scout Council's annual banquet in a prepared address. "The unspeakable folly of the theory that we are more likely to resort to war, or become involved in war, because we are reasonably prepared against the danger of war, has been made so plain that few will be found to deny it."

Says Blaylock's Words Reflect Upon Himself

OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Pensions Minister Mackenzie, commenting yesterday on a statement made by S. G. Blaylock, chairman of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., who said Mr. Mackenzie made "a proper use" of himself in a recent Vancouver address, said Mr. Blaylock's "undignified choice of language referring to myself reflects more upon himself."

(Mr. Blaylock, speaking at Rossland, B.C., made reference to Mr. Mackenzie's statement in Vancouver last month that there was a "Tory-financial" conspiracy in British Columbia "aimed at the protection of vested interests against socialism and this in turn has been deflected against the government.")

BLAYLOCK'S CLAIM

(Mr. Blaylock said his and other companies had contributed to a "research" fund in an effort to provide post-war employment.)

Mr. Mackenzie in his statement yesterday said:

"When he (Mr. Blaylock) stated that the funds which I exposed were for research work he used a new and mellow term for campaign funds."

"I repeat what I said at Vancouver. This fund was to be raised against the Socialist Party, and then was to be used for alleged coalition purposes to destroy true and genuine Liberalism in British Columbia."

Alberta Farmers Receive $3,700,000 in Hog Premiums

Minister of Agriculture Sees Many Advantages Under New Bonus Plan

Based on 1943 marketings and grades, value of the recently-announced Dominion government premiums on hogs to Alberta farmers will be approximately $3,700,000, Hon. D. Bruce MacMillan, minister of agriculture, stated Saturday.

I Saw Today

Lois Oake at the corner of Jasper and 100A Street; Donna Fraser in the western section of the city; Jessie Cuthbertson exchanging greetings with a friend on Jasper; Audrey MacDonald discussing school affairs in the West End; Lenora Timmins observing traffic signals at Jasper and 101 street; Theresa Hall heading east along the main boulevard; Sue Cooper entering the North Side Library building.

Natural slate occasionally comes in red or green colors.

"The premiums will probably amount to a larger sum," the minister added, "because their effect on 1944 marketings will be to increase the percentage of Grade A and B1 hogs marketed, thus enhancing the value of the swine industry to Alberta growers."

The premium should do much to offset widespread criticism that has existed regarding the price of bacon, since the subsidies were announced on coarse grains, Mr. MacMillan said. "It will prevent as well a further depletion of swine herds, which according to many reports, was assuming alarming proportions."

SOUND PRINCIPLE

"The principle adopted under this policy of bonusing quality is, in my opinion, a very sound one. It will be particularly useful in improving the quality of Canadian bacon, thus assuring our product of a favorable reception on the British market after the war."

"I consider that the premiums on bacon hogs will have a stabilizing effect, not only upon the swine industry, but upon other branches of agriculture. Stabilizing the swine industry will have a beneficial effect upon the production of coarse grains as well. Perhaps of more importance than any of these factors will be the assurance that as a result of these premiums, the supplies of bacon for Britain will be more certain."

Department of agriculture officials have estimated that 2,313,000 hogs were marketed in the province in 1943. Twenty-five per cent of this number, or 578,000, graded A, and 43 per cent graded B1.

City Light, Power Off Half an Hour

Light and power facilities were off for more than 30 minutes Saturday morning as a defect developed in the sub-station controlling circuits in the downtown area.

The facilities were not available for the half-hour period in the district from Jasper avenue north to 118 avenue, and from 95 street to 109 street. Also affected were the circuits serving the Riverdale flats and Forest Heights.

Street railway service was not affected by the breakdown.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION:
What do you think of the cost-of-living bonus increase given to provincial civil servants?

THE ANSWERS:

HARRY CHAPMAN, wheelwright:
The increase paid is all to the good but it does not compensate for increase in living costs. However it is a step in the right direction.

WILLIAM MULCAHAY, carpenter:
The government is to be commended in setting an example to employers in increasing the amount of cost-of-living bonus.

PERCY TALBOT, clerk: Recognition by the provincial government that salaries are lagging behind the cost of living, and that bonuses paid are below that which should be paid to meet increased living costs should point the way to others.

Name Bourcier Candidate For Lac Ste. Anne

A. V. Bourcier, Social Credit M.L.A., for Lac Ste. Anne constituency, was nominated by acclamation to contest the Lac Ste. Anne seat in the next provincial general election, at a well-attended constituency convention held Friday at Onaway.

E. Hyslop of Greencourt was named chairman of the convention, and was re-elected to the presidency of the Lac Ste. Anne Social Credit Constituency Association. Other officers chosen were George Standeven, vice-president, and E. Wickstrom of Cherrhill, 2nd vice-president. William Brown was re-appointed to the post of secretary.

The convention passed a resolution expressing support of Premier Ernest Manning and his government, and expressed appreciation of the government's efforts on behalf of people of the province.

Another resolution passed urged early completion of the Edmonton-Whitcourt highway, and extension of this route beyond Whitcourt to connect with the Alaska Highway, for the benefit of Peace River country residents.

A third resolution passed expressed appreciation of Mr. Bourcier's work on behalf of the riding, and announced constituents' intention to support him in every way possible.

A member of the Alberta Social Credit Board, the Lac Ste. Anne M.L.A. lives at 11222 80 street, Edmonton. He was first elected to the legislature in 1935, and was re-elected in the provincial general election of 1940.

Reservists Plan Training on Skis

Edmonton's Reserve Army will take to skis on Sunday when 25 members of the 4th (R) Armored Division Troops Company, R.C.A.S.C., C.A., attend the first ski parade of the year.

Training will be supervised by Sgt. H. Brette, well-known local skier and jumper. "Once the boys get their equipment properly adjusted, we'll be all set for real training," he stated.

The company plans weekly instruction at the Prince of Wales Armory.

Edmonton C. C. F. Will Meet Tuesday

Edmonton C.C.F.-Alberta Farmer Labor party is to meet in 103 street I.O.O.F. hall Tuesday night at 8 p.m., to arrange plans for a nominating convention for East and West Edmonton Dominion ridings, it was announced Saturday. At 9 p.m., a panel discussion on the topic, "Make This Your Canada" will be held. Leading the discussion will be Mrs. F. G. Butterworth, Gertrude Whitehead, Arthur Curfman and Tom Truscott.

Military "Flavor" to Soviet Money

Brought to Edmonton by an army officer recently, the two samples of Soviet Russia's currency reproduced above, reflect strongly the spirit of that great nation's heroic and victorious struggle against the Nazi invaders. The bill shown at the top is a three-ruble note. The striking feature is the anonymous figure of the helmeted Russian soldier forming the chief part of the design. The bill below is the one ruble note. A factory worker, symbol of Russia's war workers, again forms the main part of the design. Translated the lettering along the tops of the bills, read: "Government treasury note," with "Union of Socialist Soviet Republics" printed elsewhere. Banks in Edmonton are unable to give current exchange value of the Russian ruble. Before the war the ruble was at one time worth 50 cents. In pre-revolution days it was worth about 20 cents in Canadian currency.

1944 Construction Program In This City Estimated To Aggregate $10,000,000

Public and private building to be undertaken during 1944 in Edmonton and district will amount to $10,000,000, according to a survey made by The Edmonton Bulletin. Of this amount, it is estimated that $6,000,000 will be for material and $4,000,000 for labor. The work will be undertaken by the Dominion and municipal governments and private enterprise. It was not possible to obtain construction figures from provincial government authorities as the capital estimates have yet to be considered.

Some of the projects already are under construction, and a considerable amount of the work has been carried over from 1943. In this category is the construction of the 350 dwellings here by Wartime Housing Ltd., and the work on the Namao and Edmonton airports.

The following is a tabulation of the projects to be undertaken: University of Alberta hospital extension $450,000 Power plant extension 75,000 Clear water basin extension 950,000 Street railway department building 20,000 Street railway department maintenance 40,000 Engineer's department 300,000 Water pipe line to Namao 120,000 Electric light department 310,000 Graveling, grading, curbing, etc., in connection with Wartime Housing Ltd. dwellings 167,000 Telephone department extensions 200,000 Memorial Hall building extension 80,000

During the year the city telephone department will install 300 new lines at the central telephone office, and 200 in the west end exchange. This work will cost approximately $70,000. In addition the department will undertake maintenance work to cost an estimated $130,000.

WATER PIPELINE
Work is now proceeding on the construction of a water pipeline from the city's water mains to Namao, and also the Namao airport. The Coast Construction Co. is the contracting firm working on this project. The contracting firm of E. E. Poole Ltd., is completing extensions to the Edmonton airport. These extensions were started in 1943.

Police Report 115 Accidents In Last Month

City police cars responded to 606 calls during the month of December, according to the monthly report of the police department, issued Saturday. In the same period, 115 auto accidents were recorded, with 14 persons being injured in same.

Authorities found 105 premises insecure during patrol duties, while 231 complaints were investigated. Nine children, reported as lost, were found; 26 fires were attended.

Of 55 juveniles arrested during the month, 33 were charged with theft, one with cattle-stealing, one with uttering forged documents, and eight with causing wilful damage. A total of 445 complaints about juveniles were investigated.

City detectives investigated 445 cases in December. Of this number, common thefts led with 137 counts: shop-breaking, 50; theft from auto or truck, 32; driving without owners' consent, 22; theft of bicycles, 22; house-breaking, 20; wilful damage, 18; assault, 16.

PROPERTY LOSS

Lost and stolen property amounted to $23,835; value of recovered property amounted to $18,281.

During the month, 465 auto tags were handed out to motorists; 47 cyclists received tags, as did 36 pedestrians.

Of 77 dogs and 61 cats in city pound, only one dog was redeemed. All the rest were destroyed.

The coroner's report for the month showed there had been nine deaths from accident and natural causes. Three inquests were held.

Survey Is Planned

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Plans for a survey of the effect of the war on United States forest resources were announced yesterday by the American Forestry Association. The study will be directed by John B. Woods of Portland, Ore., forester under the national industrial recovery administration. He will have an advisory council.

Mine manager's certificates issued to John Shanks and James M. Stewart, Jr., and an overman's certificate issued to Mr. Stewart, cancelled after the disaster enquiry, have not been re-instated.

To Speak Here

Gerald G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal member of parliament for Vancouver-Burrard, will speak in Edmonton Saturday, Jan. 29. It was announced today by Neil D. Maclean, K.C., president of Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association. The meeting is to be held in the 103 street I.O.O.F. hall, and is expected to commence at 8:30 p.m.

Give Certificates Back to Miners

Five miners' certificates, suspended following inquiries into the Nord-deg mine disaster, which occurred Oct. 31, 1941, and cost the lives of 29 men, were returned on Jan. 8, Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, announced Saturday. Two mine managers' certificates, cancelled following the disaster, have not been returned.

Third class examiner's certificates were returned to Graydon B. Minue, Michael O'Neill, Robert White, and Jack Parker. The latter was also returned his overman's certificate.

Mine manager's certificates issued to John Shanks and James M. Stewart, Jr., and an overman's certificate issued to Mr. Stewart, cancelled after the disaster enquiry, have not been re-instated.

Gideon Planish

By Sinclair Lewis

THE STORY: As Dean of Kinnikinnick College in 1926, Gideon Planish is well-known in demand as a public speaker, and referred to as "the leader of humanitarians." His wife, Peony, is attractive, extravagant and ambitious. Through her manoeuvring, the Dean becomes chairman of the County Censorship Board.

CHAPTER XI
BEFORE the first meeting of the censorship board with the Dean in the chair, Peony prompted him, "I've got something for you to go after—novel published a couple of years ago—The Tattooed Countess, by Carl Van Vechten. Why don't you get busy and censor hell out of it?"

"You can't! I understand Mr. Van Vechten was born here in Iowa. He's a Native Son!" The Dean referred to Native Son as though it had a close relationship to the Nativist.

"That's why I picked it. All the guys in the State that knew him when, or claim they knew him when, will be jealous of him because he went off to New York."

"But is it immoral enough to get folks interested?"

"I haven't read it. I tell you, with all I got to do, I just don't seem to have time to read novels. But I hear there's a woman and a young fellow interested in each other in the book, without being married! And it's all laid in Iowa—the setting, I mean."

"I see."

"And then it's kind of highbrow and kind of humorous, and that makes immorality a lot worse."

"We'll see what we can do to it."

The rest of the committee, when the meeting was held at Mabel Grove, were pleased to censor a refugee loan, and they set forth with verbal flaming torches to drive the Tattooed Countess clean out of Garfield County. But in the entire county, though in cities like Dubuque and Des Moines it was rumored to be plentiful, they could discover the book only in the homes of a newspaper owner, a doctor, two lawyers and seven clergymen.

There were listed in the county five book shops, of which three actually sold books, at Christmas time, but none of these had a copy. Peony was not satisfied. "There must be some on sale. This is a bright, educated county—Yankees and Scandinavians. There must be some people here who're cultured enough to read immoral books."

Ranging by automobile, she went into every stand that sold magazines or toys, and right there in Mabel Grove, not 10 blocks from the grove of Mrs. William Basewood, she found two copies of The Tattooed Countess on sale in the cigar store of one Mr. Rood.

The five members of the censorship board, attended by two admiring wives, waited upon Mr. Rood in his shop.

He looked thin, amiable and dangerous. No, he hadn't read The Countess. In fact, he never read anything but Chic Sals and some times Louisa May Alcott. No, he didn't know how he happened to have two copies of The Countess; they probably came in with a job lot of magazines, book-ends and Easter cards. No—truly no—he wouldn't promise not to sell The Countess. He was running his business to suit himself, not a bunch of bottled-neck preachers—and he looked at Peony—dumb bunnies. All right, why didn't they arrest him? There was just as much divi-denda in going to jail as in running a cigar store.

The Dean remarked, "We'll see about this!" and with all the dignity of his short beard and gold-rimmed eye-glasses, he led his crusaders out of the den of vice.

On suggestion of the Reverend Mr. Peterson, chairman of the commission of Garfield County, Mr. Peniston reported, "You got no legal right to do anything, but I don't see why we Republicans shouldn't have a fit of morality once in a while, as well as the Democrats. I'll get the Mabel Grove police to let you hold a meeting in Hawkeye Park, and you can lambast Brother Rood to a fare-you-well. Say, tell me, Dean, is this Tattooed Countess pretty hot stuff? I must get me a copy before Rood sells out."

"I haven't had time to read it—I mean, read it all, yet," the Dean explained.

When the five censors appeared on the bandstand in Hawkeye Park, not more than 50 persons had gathered to listen, and most of them muttered, "What are they? Mormons or Seventh Day Adventists?"

In a hasty prologue lasting 17 minutes the Reverend Mr. Peterson introduced Dean Planish.

The Dean was in a deplorable state. It seemed to him that all of the twenty-three auditors who were remaining were snickering.

"My—my friends," he groaned, and somebody down there laughed. He struggled, he tried to think of something better, and came out with a thunderous "MY FRIENDS!"

But Peony was looking up at him with eyes that promised that if he walloped them good, she would be very sweet to him tonight. Without effort or any apparent control of it, he heard his voice suddenly start flowing, strong and steady, full of morality and adjectives and grammar. Five minutes later he was trumpeting:

"If you will permit a teacher to use such a phrase, maybe we better quit kidding ourselves into the belief that it's Wall Street and Paris and Hollywood that start all this vice. Here's an Iowa boy, Cary Van Vechten, and here's Al Rood, a neighbor whom you all know, conniving to flood us with a masterpiece of such insinuation, immorality and wicked brilliance that we are all tempted to thoughts entirely different from those proper to the Middlewest. And what are we going to do about them?"

He never did answer his question, but wound up with March Washington and the Coast of Maine.

As they left Hawkeye Park, the Dean sighed, "Poor Rood! I'm sure he's not a bad fellow at heart. It's kind of a shame to ruin his business."

As he was driving past Rood's Cigar Store, he stopped. Standing on a box in front of the shop was Mr. Rood, a pile of a hundred books on a box beside him, and he was shouting, "Step right up, folks, and get your copy of The Tattooed Countess—all about the French countess and the sheik, in the Arabian desert—wild doings by moonlight on the banks of the Congo—the book that's being advertised right now by the president of Kinnikinnick College, at the meeting in the park, as the hottest yarn since the Song of Solomon."

They were buying.

Peony urged, "Oh, Gideon, I want to get a couple of copies. President Rood said he'd loan it to read it, and I think I might send one to Daddy for his birthday."

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

America's Card Authority

Today's hand brings out a play that even the experts will miss, and I suggest that you study it carefully if you want to improve your game. It came up in the team-of-four contest recently held at Syracuse. Forty-three commercial and industrial firms in Syracuse entered teams in the contest. A snowstorm caused the withdrawal of a few, but four teams actually participated, making it one of the largest events of this kind ever held.

It is not difficult for North and South to get into four hearts on this hand, but in every case where West made the smart opening of the jack of spades, the contract was defeated. The declarer knew that he had to lose the ace of trumps, and must avoid losing more than two spades. Of course, if there were four trumps to the ace-ten in the West hand, he probably would go down.

Since West first thought should be to avoid losing three spades, South must pass the opening spade lead.

If he wins it in dummy with the ace and leads a trump, West will go in with the ace, lead the six of spades, East will cash the king and queen and lead the last spade; and now West is bound to get another trump trick. If South holds off until the second spade lead, West will have no spade to return when he gets in with the ace of trumps—and matter will not only make his contract, but an overtrick as well.

Matrimonial Gangsters Try to Force Youths Into Wedlock With Pretty Eyes Instead of Guns; If Not in Love, Men Should Beware

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Will you please speed this letter, for I am on a hot spot and need help in getting off of it. I am 30 years old. In the army. I have been going with a girl for about seven or eight months. She claims that she is in love with me and insists on my marrying her right now before I am sent abroad. But I don't want to be married during the war. Besides, I have an old mother to support. During depression mother supported me and I feel it is my turn to support mother.

My worst trouble is that my girl friend calls me a sissy because I don't want to be married before going overseas. Please advise me and make the advice hard, for I am not ready to take a wife and make her the right sort of home.

A WORRIED PRIVATE.

ANSWER: Well, soldier, what sort of a fighting guy are you going to make if you haven't enough backbone to offer any resistance to a little two-by-four girl who is determined to marry you against your will? The Nazis or the Japs will have much to fear from you if that is all the spunk you have. You will surrender without firing a shot in defence of your liberty.

But, listen, soldier, haven't you enough sense to see that any girl who tries to force a man to marry her is just a matrimonial gangster? She is a robber, bent on taking his pocketbook away from him, and the fact that she holds him up with a pair of blue eyes or brown eyes, instead of a gun, makes no difference in the case. And why men so seldom have the intestinal fortitude to even try to protect themselves against these highway women is one of the mysteries of masculine psychology that nobody can explain.

But they don't. They just throw up their hands and quit. A man seems to think that if a girl wants to marry him, he has to let her do it, no matter whether he wants to or not. And apparently it never occurs to him that she is on the lookout for a meal ticket to work behind a counter, or that she just wants to be married because all the other girls are doing it. Believe me, soldier, you would be surprised if you knew what hard-boiled schemers a lot of these innocent little babes are.

In your case there is every reason why you should brace up and have enough backbone to refuse to let this girl take you for a ride to the altar. In the first place, you don't love her and don't want to marry her, and you will let yourself in for a lifetime of misery if you do. In the second place, you are in no position to support a wife, and if you wanted one, and thirdly, and most important of all, your duty to your mother. She is old and feeble and not able to work; whereas the girl is young and strong and amply able to take care of herself. That gives mother the first call on you.

"JUST HURT"

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Don't think me a cranky old lady. I am just hurt. My son has been married ten years and has three children. I to lose the ace of trumps, and must avoid losing more than two spades. Of course, if there were four trumps to the ace-ten in the West hand, he probably would go down.

Since West first thought should be to avoid losing three spades, South must pass the opening spade lead.

If he wins it in dummy with the ace and leads a trump, West will go in with the ace, lead the six of spades, East will cash the king and queen and lead the last spade; and now West is bound to get another trump trick. If South holds off until the second spade lead, West will have no spade to return when he gets in with the ace of trumps—and matter will not only make his contract, but an overtrick as well.

WOLVES

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We,

being respectable girls, would appreciate your advice on how to treat a situation regarding the upkeep of the servicemen's morale.

We would not think of doing anything to lower it in the least, but when a serviceman comes up to us and accosts us as if we were pickup girls, are we to be blamed if we refuse to walk with him?

Such an incident happened to us the other day and the soldier retorted by saying angrily: "Is this what you call keeping up our morale?" We, and probably many girls like us, would not want to hurt any of these boys' feelings, but what to do and what to say in this case is the question. For we do not wish to be accused of being uncooperative in keeping up the servicemen's morale.

LORRIE AND DOTTIE.

ANSWER: Well, Lorrie and Dottie, keeping up your own morale is a lot more important than keeping up the soldiers' morale. So the thing for you to do is to turn down those soldiers who are on the make, good and hard. They are wolves on the prowl and they bode you no good. Keep away from them.

POWDERED PRESERVES FOR BRITISH MARKET

LONDON. (CP) — British

housewives have been told that they may soon be making jam from powder at all times of the year.

Professor B. T. Barker of a research station in Somerset has announced that he has discovered a powder made from plum puree, which keeps indefinitely.

Three ounces of the powder, with sugar added, after a few minutes of boiling, becomes two pounds of jam. Only plum powder has been used so far, but the scientist believes the process is possible with apple and blackberry and probably any other fruit.

Advantages of the new invention, in wartime England, are: saving of storage space; saving of sugar, since the jam would be made for quick consumption; jam can be made whenever sugar surpluses are available.

A British firm of preserve makers already is preparing products, using the experimental examples.

REPAYES KINDNESSES OF SOUTH AFRICANS

BLACKPOOL, Eng. (CP)—Mrs.

Jamieson owns a hotel here and as a memorial to her husband, she had decided to entertain 10 to 15 dominion and colonial servicemen as her guests each week, at a cost of more than $225 a week.

In doing so she will be carrying out the wish of her husband, who had given free hospitality to more than 400 overseas servicemen from 1940 until his death recently. He did so, he said, as repayment for the many kindnesses received during 18 years he spent in South Africa.

Today's Needlework

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDER

So you want to adopt a baby? If you have a nice home, an aching, empty heart and this desire to protect and love some parentless child, you feel the wish is father to the deed. Would that it were so.

The first emotion such prospective parents may suffer is disappointment. They want a baby so badly and there are no babies to be had. Let them take heart. One must wait nine months for one's own baby, why quibble at waiting a year for one to adopt?

Be resigned to a long wait for there is no speedy path to adoption. The supply of babies is far from equal to the demand. When confused about available places from which to find a baby for adoption, apply first to the Child Welfare Bureau, or bureau of similar name and objective, at the government offices of your own state or province.

It will be in touch with the various licensed agencies throughout the state or province and can provide the prospective parents with the names of those most convenient to them. Then, when your name has been added to the list, you must fulfill any requirements made by the agency and wait patiently until your name comes up.

Do not be angry or insulted by the investigation made of yourself and your husband. It is essential before any baby is put into your keeping the agency be convinced you are healthy persons, that your economic stability is such that you can be expected to look after a child properly during its years of growth and education.

Your race and religion will have a bearing on the type of child thought suitable to you, otherwise temperamental and religious differences might crop up later to aggravate parental-child relationships. The child, knowing as he or she must, that he is adopted, must be as happy to be a member of his chosen family, as it is to have him.

There is, as this brief discussion implies, far more to this business of adoption than just the parents' loving and sentimental desire to have a baby in the home.

In prehistoric times, most of the Rocky Mountain area was covered by an inland sea extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Ocean.

W.I. in Northern Alberta

By MRS. HUGH J. MONTGOMERY—Box 514, Wetaskiwin.

HAYTER

Meeting for the first time this year, W.I. members were gratified to learn that 1943 had been their most successful year financially since their organization. Most of the funds had been used for war work. Red Cross sewing and knitting were given out and will be completed this month.

OHATON

An interesting program has been arranged for the year and will be used in addition to the war work done at the meetings. A quilt is being made and will be sold to aid Greek relief. Red Cross sewing was distributed. Arrangements were made to hold a card party when the prizes will be war savings stamps. Mrs. W. Vaughn is the 1944 president, and Mrs. Gillespie is the secretary-treasurer.

ECHO HILL

Mrs. R. May led a discussion on the Cancer Clinic. Mrs. E. Weidrick was made convener of a bazaar committee, and a card party was arranged and will be held at the home of Mrs. W. Schmiede. The membership was divided into two groups which will take charge of program, attendance and routine business.

ALIX

Three quilts were completed and sent to the Navy League. A donation was also voted to the Wood's Home. Officers are: Mrs. Toepfer, president; Mrs. Pinnell, vice-president; Mrs. Pears, secretary, and Mrs. Yarwood, treasurer.

C.O.T.C. Holds Supper Dance In Normal School Gymnasium

Gymnasium of the Edmonton Normal School was the setting for a supper dance Friday evening, when members of the C.O.T.C. were hosts. No. 4 I.T.S. orchestra played for dancing.

Specially invited guests were His Honor, J. C. Bowen, Lt.-Governor of Alberta, and Mrs. Bowen; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newton, Wing Commander of No. 4 I.T.S., and Mrs. Macpherson; Mr. Officer and Mrs. Armour, Sqdn. Ldr. Robert M. Hardy, head of V.A.T.C., and Mrs. Hardy; Lt.-Col. W. Matthews, Officer Commanding the Edmonton U.N.T.D., and Mrs. Matthews; and Capt. E. H. Newland.

Patrons were His Honor and Mrs. Bowen, Lt.-Col. P. S. Warren, Officer Commanding the C.O.T.C., and Mrs. Warren; Chief Instructor Maj. H. J. Towerton, and Mrs.

Lodge Elects New Officers

New officers of Unity Rebekah Lodge, No. 26, were installed Tuesday, when Mrs. E. Lepard, district deputy president, Mrs. H. F. Douglas, district deputy marshal, and their staff, presided.

Those installed are: Mrs. A. Peterson, junior past grand; Mrs. C. Vaughan, noble grand; Miss M. Steele, vice grand; Mrs. D. Macgee, recording secretary; Mrs. I. Kidney, financial secretary; Mrs. N. East Wedding Interest Here

RED DEER, Jan. 15.—A marriage of considerable interest in Alberta military circles was solemnized at the Church of the Ascension, Westmount, Que., on Jan. 5, when Miss Ruth Anne Telfer, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Telfer, Westmount, became the bride of Major Arthur P. Phelan, R.C.A.S.C., son of Mrs. Phelan and the late Arthur P. Phelan of Montreal.

Major Phelan is administrative officer, "A" Wing at A20 Canadian Army Corps Training Centre, Red Deer, and is well known throughout the province not only through his official duties but in his capacity as president of the A20 band and vice-president of the A20 Wheelers Hockey Club.

A presentation of a silver tea service was made to Major and Mrs. Phelan at the Officers' Mess, Colonel J. J. Burton-Willison, Commandant, officiated and expressed the good wish of the members.

Mrs. C. Pridmore Re-Elected Head Willing Workers

Mrs. C. Pridmore was re-elected president of St. Stephen's Willing Workers, at its annual business meeting held recently at the rectory. Mrs. J. C. Matthews was named honorary president, and Mrs. R. M. Watson is vice-president.

The financial report for 1943 showed a successful year.

Canon Matthews presided at the election of officers. Others elected are: Mrs. H. Q. Horton, secretary; Mrs. J. R. Watson, treasurer; Mrs. R. M. Watson, dorcas secretary; Mrs. Miller, assistant to Mrs. Watson; Mrs. T. J. Jones, magazine secretary, and Mrs. W. Petherbridge, social convener.

HONORS

The King's recent honors list brought two nurses awards for unswerving devotion to duty. Capt. Grace Patterson, above, of Etobicoke, Ont.; Nursing Sister Edna Louise Belden, Toronto, below, both received Associate Royal Red Cross awards. A private nurse to some of Hollywood's leading stars, Nursing Sister Edna Louise Belden was also for some time engaged as a hostess on the Trans-Canada Airlines before enlisting with the Royal Canadian Nursing Corps.

Club Receives Aussie Flag

The United War Services Club, Y.M.C.A., will be presented with an Australian flag, at a special ceremony in the club rooms Saturday evening. The presentation ceremony will be a highlight of the regular week-end dance.

The flag, received recently by the War Services Club, is a gift of the returned sailors, soldiers and airmen of the Imperial League of Australia.

The following message was received with the flag: "In a glowing account of your generous treatment of our service men, one of them mentioned that he noticed that the national flags were used as internal decoration in your club rooms, and that one not present was the Australian flag. At his request, it gives us the greatest pleasure, as old service men, to send to you this flag as a mark of appreciation for the good fellowship and comradeship you are extending to our sons. This flag is not a new one—or battle scarred one—but it is a privileged one nevertheless. It has draped the walls of our branch rooms, and has heard old stories told time and again. May this flag carry our good wishes for a speedy consummation of our joint efforts to the days of understanding—leaving behind hate, rancour and misunderstanding."

Mrs. Roberts Is President Of Fellowship

Mrs. B. Roberts was elected president of the Young Women's Fellowship of Holy Trinity church at its annual meeting held in the vestry on Jan. 12. Mrs. W. M. Nainby was named honorary president. Mrs. W. J. Melrose, Mrs. G. Reynolds and Mrs. W. B. Chamberlain are honorary vice-presidents.

During the year substantial contributions were made to the mortgage fund and the reports presented showed a very successful financial year with a large increase in membership.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. A. M. Brunless, first vice president; Mrs. W. J. Saunders, second vice-president; Mrs. F. M. Pow, secretary; Mrs. L. Pheasey, treasurer; Miss Winnifred Bull, educational secretary; Miss Iris James, press correspondent; Mrs. A. Bradley, social service; Mrs. T. Roberts, dorcas secretary; Mrs. H. Marchment, Mrs. W. J. Ebdon, and Mrs. W. Bull, bazaar conveners; and Mrs. W. Janks, supervisor of little helpers.

This Home Mixed Cough Relief Is Hard To Beat

Very Easy To Make.
No Cooking. Saves Big Money.
No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, is hard to beat, for real results.
Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—anyone can do it. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.
Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any drugstore) into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really excellent cough relief—about 4 times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils. You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Cures soreness and difficult breathing, and lets you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.
Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, a most reliable, soothing agent for throat and bronchial troubles. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

So You Smoke in Bed!

Is your sweetest smoke of all the day that last cigarette, cigar or pipeful just before you put out the light and snuggle under the covers to sleep the sleep of the contented? But here are some harsh words: you and I—and everyone else who smokes in bed—are potential "enemies of the state," for unwittingly we may cause at any time a fire disastrous to property and life alike.

Smokers are not necessarily the worst offenders where fires are concerned; nevertheless, the carelessness of smokers often is contributory to fires of far-reaching consequence. A match tossed from the window of a car, an unextinguished cigarette butt or the hot ashes from a pipe—little things in themselves, yet each has caused destruction of homes and business houses, factories, crops and forests. In one recent year alone, 30 per cent of all the Canadian fires of which the cause was established were traced directly to the carelessness of smokers—and that's something which smokers everywhere would do well to note. Incidentally, authentic figures indicate that in that one year the monetary value of this preventable destruction by fire in Canada ran to $1,371,079.00; serious at any time, but calamitous when Canada is engaged in war.

In one war year alone Canada's fire wastage summed up to 323 lives and $28,000,000.00; not an enviable record. Fortunately, we can cut down the havoc of fire simply by substituting carefulness for carelessness. Carefulness, for instance, will dictate a "no smoking" rule for storerooms, attics, closets and garages. Careful householders will have gas leaks and electrical trouble checked immediately by the companies concerned; they will have furnaces, stoves, smokepipes, chimneys cleaned regularly. Come to think of it, we all can help to cut down the toll of fires throughout 1944.

Judicial Sale of Farm Property by Tender

PURSUANT to the Order for Sale and Auction of the Honourable Mr. Justice Macdonald, sealed tenders will be received for the purchase of:

The South West quarter of Section Four (4), in Township Forty-five (45), Range Three (3), West of the Fourth Meridian, in the Province of Alberta, containing 160 acres, more or less. Reserving unto His Majesty all mines and minerals.

There are seven buildings, consisting of a house, barn, hen house and four granaries. Approximately 80 acres of the land have been cultivated. The land is 8 miles from the nearest elevator and post office at Edgerton, and 2 1/2 miles from the nearest school.

The property is offered for sale at an upset price of $6,300.00.

Tenders must be enclosed in sealed envelopes marked "Tenders to Thorpe vs. Newell, No. 32287 S.C.A.", addressed to R. P. Wallace, Clerk of the Supreme Court, Court House, Edmonton, Alberta, and must be in the hands of the said R. P. Wallace not later than 12:00 o'clock noon on the 22nd day of January, A.D. 1944.

TERMS OF SALE—Each tender must be accompanied by a marked cheque for the amount of the tender and the balance of the purchase price shall be paid into Court within 60 days after acceptance of tender without interest, or the deposit of 10% shall be forfeited by the successful tenderer if he refuses to carry out the purchase after acceptance of his tender. Cheques of unsuccessful tenderers shall be returned to them immediately after rejection thereof.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

In all other respects the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of sale of the Supreme Court of Alberta so far as the same are applicable hereto.

For further particulars apply to GERALD O'CONNOR K.C., Barrister, 1 National Trust Building, Edmonton, Alberta.

DATED at the City of Edmonton, in the Province of Alberta, this 16th day of September, A.D. 1943.

Search Continued For Missing Men
VICTORIA, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Search for four men missing since New Year's Day was continued yesterday but divers probing the sea bottom near the Victoria outer docks found no trace of the automobile in which the missing men were believed trapped. The body of Frank Brundridge was taken from the water last Saturday. He was known to have been in the car when it disappeared. The missing men are Robert Luncan, owner of the car; Frank Masters, Joseph Marino and Dan Bethune.

Economical Trips To Europe Seen
NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Summer week-ends in Alaska, the West Indies or even in Hawaii, and $100 trips to Europe will be available after the war, David E. Grant, foreign counsel for Pan-American Airways, said yesterday.

In an address he said plans were in readiness for construction, as soon as war needs permit, of aircraft capable of carrying 150 passengers on such trips.

Canadian Planes Hit Enemy Ships
LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Canadian Beaufighters from the coastal command yesterday participated in an attack on enemy shipping off the Norwegian coast in which two medium-sized merchant vessels were hit by torpedoes and several escort vessels damaged. The R.C.A.F. announced today. Two Canadian planes are missing.

Before the Magistrate
Pleading guilty to having morphine in his possession, Cyril "Bud" Toney of Calgary, was sentenced by Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., Friday afternoon to nine months' imprisonment with hard labor at Fort Saskatchewan. Also imposed was a fine of $200, or, in default, an additional three months with hard labor.

Toner, who is 22 years old, arrived from Calgary on Tuesday. He was arrested Thursday after R.C.M.P. and city police searched his suitcase and found 16 tablets which accused admitted contained morphine.

"The tablets, together with two hypodermic needles, were found in a pocket in some pants in the suitcase, the former being wrapped in a handkerchief.

The prisoner's record started in 1931, he was reminded by Mr. Millar. He had given juvenile authorities trouble; he had been cautioned, given suspended sentences, placed on probation.

"You should have been stepped on before," said the magistrate, adding that the accused had been dealt with too leniently.

He finished serving a two-year term in October last, the court said. Since that time Toner had again been convicted at Calgary.

His other convictions included theft, theft of auto, theft of opium and breaking-and-entering, said the magistrate, as he passed sentence.

Pleading guilty before Magistrate Harold L. Howe, K.C., in city police court, Saturday morning, to driving at an unreasonable speed, Reg. Reid was fined $15 and costs of 20 days. On a second charge, of failing to stop when signalled to do so, he pleaded guilty, and a further penalty of $5 and costs or seven days was imposed. The terms will run concurrently.

Three charges of vagrancy, against Irene Thomas, Mary Tryne and Florence Testawich, were all remanded. Caec against the first-named was adjourned until Friday next, with bail set at $500. No pleas were entered.

TODAY'S MARKETS

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—(CP)—Stocks rounded out the week on a strong price tone and comparatively heavy volume. The week's turnover has been the heaviest in months with the action bulking in the gold stocks. The cheaper western oils were represented in the action by heavy turnover at firming prices. A half-million shares or more changed hands in today's session.

My Day

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK—On Saturday I spoke at a luncheon of the Wellesley Club and found myself sitting beside Captain Mildred McAfee, which is always a joy. In the afternoon I received the new ambassador of the Dominican Republic and his wife and daughter, and the new minister of Ethiopia. Later there were a number of guests at tea.

Just the people in the house made it quite a gay party of young people, so we had only one or two boys in the service who happened to be in Washington as our guests from outside.

Sunday was a rather quiet day. There were only one or two people at lunch. I took the midnight train to New York city.

Today I am attending the birthday lunch for Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. I have often wanted to go before, but this is the first time in some years that I will succeed in being present. Mrs. Catt has always been one of the people whom I have greatly admired. I feel great pride in her many achievements. She still keeps her interest in what goes on in the world and her power to be of value to young people. As I grow older I realize how remarkable it is to remain flexible and to be able to make a contribution in the discussion of new problems.

I am very happy to find that the Women's City Club in New York city, which now has its headquarters in the New Weston Hotel, is making the club facilities available to the wives of servicemen who are temporarily in New York. The club is keeping someone on hand to receive these young women. They come from all over the country to say goodbye to their husbands, or to await the arrival of their husbands from overseas, or to visit them in nearby hospitals. Sometimes they are without friends and so they enjoy finding someone at the club who will give them the information they need and tell them what services are available in New York city. Then too, they can rest and have tea in surroundings which are so much pleasanter than those in an overcrowded hotel.

I am happy to think that in this crisis, the Women's City Club is doing this. I have always felt that the civic work of the club was very important, both because of its educational value for the members of the club, who do the work, and because of the influence the members can bring to bear on the city government. For that reason I have kept my membership during all these years that I have been away. I hope that if I am ever able to spend some of my time regularly in New York city, I may again join in some of their activities.

McCoy Health Service

Bronchitis or inflammation of the bronchial tubes, occurs in both an acute and chronic form. The average person in fair health recovers promptly from the acute attack; however, in children it may cause more distress than in the adult.

Chronic bronchitis is often more troublesome during the winter time than at other seasons and is frequently found in old people, who complain of having "a cold on the chest" which they are unable to throw off.

Chronic bronchitis is often accompanied by constipation and often some derangement of digestive function is also noted. Generally it is due to faulty habits of living, but in some cases it is due to the patient working in a dust-filled atmosphere, where the dust proves irritating to the bronchial tubes.

The symptoms of acute bronchitis begin about the same as those of a cold. The patient has a discharge from the nose, there is a heaviness within the head and the muscles feel tired. Later, the cold extends downward and the patient complains of a heavy feeling in the chest as though a weight were placed upon it, and also of a raw, tight sensation behind the breast bone. In a short time a tight cough develops and within a few days the cough begins to raise mucus in copious amounts. The average attack is over within a week or so.

During acute bronchitis, the patient should rest in bed and should be given feedings of fruit juice, with plenty of water "to drink. Other food should be withheld for a few days. At least one daily enema is to be taken. When there is pain or tightness through the chest, the application of heat will usually prove comforting and soothing.

If the patient seems toxic, and exhibits such symptoms as fever, restlessness, and a coated tongue, the sweating treatment may often be used to good effect.

Once the attack is well started it will run its course and it is better to let recovery come when it will than to try to force it by too strenuous a treatment. Sometimes the person caring for the patient, in a mistaken zeal, keeps him disturbed by frequent attention, rubbing the chest, bathing him, using heat, giving him something for his cough, and so on, when the patient would do better with less attention and more rest.

The outstanding symptom of chronic bronchitis is a persistent cough. In the mild cases, this may appear only in the mornings. Eventually the cough may be accompanied by shortness of breath.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sulphuric acid will char paper just as fire will.

New Long-Range Fighter Version of P-51 Mustang

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The new long-range fighter plane which escorted bombers in the great air battle over Germany Tuesday, was described by the United States war department yesterday as an improved version of the P-51 Mustang with a speed of more than 400 miles an hour.

The new plane, the air forces said, has a service ceiling which has been "increased from approximately 30,000 feet to well over this figure."

As an escort fighter the plane "is capable of efficient operation for long distances," the announcement said, without mentioning mileage figures. Its use in the Tuesday raids on three German industrial cities did not represent its maximum range possibilities, the A.A.F. added.

(Oschersleben, one of the three targets hit in the raid, is more than 600 miles from bases in England.)

The new Mustang is powered with a Packard-built Rolls-Royce Merlin liquid-cooled, in-line engine of 1,500 horsepower. The ship has a four-bladed propeller. The weight of the plane, the air force said, "has been sharply increased from the approximately 9,500 pounds of the early versions."

The Mustang retains, in its new version, the dual characteristics of a fighter-bomber and an escort fighter. As a bomber it can handle a 1,000-pound bomb load.

The Mustang is a single-place plane with the pilot protected by armor plate front and rear. It

Calgary Woman's Suit for Share In Estate Opens

VANCOUVER, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Hearing opened before Mr. Justice James Coady in British Columbia Supreme Court yesterday of the petition of Mrs. May Sarah Foxe, Calgary, under the Testator's Family Maintenance Act for a share of the $81,432 of her late husband, Samuel George Foxe.

Mrs. Foxe, a sergeant in the Canadian Women's Army Corps stationed at Camrose, Alta., was married in Calgary in 1927 to Foxe, and separated eight months later. She received $500 from her husband at the time of the separation and was left without when he died here last Feb. 15.

Under a will made a month after the separation, the estate was left to four sisters, except for $1,000 to his executor, Robert Johnston Anderson, Moose Jaw contractor.

Japan Will Speed Plane Production By Unified Control

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—(AP)—In an effort to speed up Japanese airplane production, which Premier Tojo Thursday declared was necessary to meet an "extremely fierce" war situation, all aircraft building will be placed under a unified control starting Sunday, the Tokyo radio said last night. The Domei agency broadcast said the change was ordered by the munitions ministry and that Lt.-Gen. Saburo Edno, chief of the aviation ordinance bureau, would be in charge of the program.

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

ALTHOUGH the current musical year is far from finished, a tentative peek into the 1944-1945 season was given when Fred M. Gee, Winnipeg impresario, spoke for a few minutes during the intermission at the concert given by Anne Brown, soprano, at McDougall auditorium Wednesday night.

Mr. Gee is the tireless promoter who co-operates with the Women's Musical Club in sponsoring the Celebrity Series of concerts. In each of the last few years he has come to attend one of the JOHN OLIVER concerts, and has taken the audience into his confidence regarding his early plans for the next year. Of course, as he pointed out, next season is a long way in the distance, and until he gets to New York, and has the signatures of the various artists on contracts, the whole matter is speculative and tentative.

On his return to Winnipeg, and before his New York trip, Mr. Gee is producing Handel's "The Messiah" for the Rotary Club's community fund. In this production he will be assisted by professional artists from both Winnipeg and Toronto, and the accompanying orchestra will be the Minneapolis Symphony under the baton of Dimitri Mitropoulos. The chorus will total 250 voices.

Mr. Gee, incidentally, is not only an impresario, but is a skilled musician and a brilliant pianist. He appeared here with touring artists as an accompanist before he entered the managerial field. In this connection he has been paid a well-deserved tribute in a book entitled "Music on My Beat," written by Howard Taubman, a member of the music staff of The New York Times. In a chapter dealing with managers or "the middlemen of music" as he calls them, Mr. Taubman, one of the most brilliant and best-informed of New York's writers on music, says of managers: "There are all kinds of managers. Some carry on quietly, others flamboyantly. Some take the lead with the good philosophically, and some flare up at every injustice, real or imagined. Some are strictly business-like, even hard-boiled, and some are emotional and excitable. Some care about music, and some don't give a hoot. Musically, one of the most accomplished managers I have heard of is Fred M. Gee of Winnipeg, who in October, 1933, took over in place of the suddenly indisposed Stewart Wille, and played accompaniments for Lawrence Tibbett, reading through a full concert's compositions at sight."

President

G. A. Kevan, organist and choir-master of Robertson United Church, who was elected president of the Edmonton branch, Alberta Music Teachers' Association, at a meeting held at the Public Library Thursday. He succeeds V. A. Beringer.

The University of Alberta, will commence a new series of organ recitals at Convocation Hall on Sunday at 4 p.m. Three other recitals will follow on the three successive Sundays. In these four appearances, Professor Nichols will select works from among the more interesting compositions of the last four centuries written for the organ. For his program tomorrow, he has chosen the following: Gagliardi, Schmidt: Prelude, and Bell Symphony, by Purcell; Conzonetta and Fugue in C by Buxtehude and three Choral Preludes by Bach. My Heart is Filled, Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring, and In Thee is Joy, while the concert will conclude with Bach's "St. Anne's" Fugue.

Professor Nichols, in presenting these recitals, feels there is a need for stimulating both organ playing and listening. He has particularly stated his desire to have United States visitors attend, and would appreciate the assistance of Edmonton residents in assisting the visitors to find Convocation Hall. Those who have heard the previous recitals by Professor Nichols need not be reminded of the pleasure and mental refreshment they provided.

Britain Cannot Be Starved Out Says Farm Head

VANCOUVER, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Britain cannot be starved out today "no matter what the enemy may do," Lord De La Warr, chairman of the Agriculture Research Committee of Great Britain, said in an address here yesterday.

Increased farm production in Britain has been one of the marvels of the war, he said, having been raised from a position where in 1939 it was only sufficient to supply 45 per cent of the country's needs till today it produces 70 per cent.

Lord De La Warr said he is trying to organize a group of Canadian farmers to pay a visit to Britain during the war in order to see for themselves what their brother farmers overseas are doing.

Heavy Agenda Awaits Session Of U.K. House

By ROSS MUNRO

LONDON, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Parliament faces a heavy session when it reassembles soon after the Christmas recess, with new progress reports on the war expected from the government and several important debates pending on controversial domestic problems.

It is unlikely that Prime Minister Churchill, who suffered an attack of pneumonia after the Middle East conference, will appear in the Commons immediately but from his convalescent headquarters in a warmer climate he is sharing in the long-range direction of the government and his views will be presented to the house by cabinet colleagues.

EUROPEAN POLICY

Some members anticipate the government will give some insight into its policy for Europe after the war and statements may be made on the Balkan situation, the Russian-Polish border dispute and some aspects of the coming western invasion.

There has been increasing agitation in many parts of the country for a more clearly defined government policy for post-war Britain in the home field and this is likely to find response in ministerial speeches on food, housing and rehabilitation.

Members are going to raise the issue of the by-election truce whereby the Conservative, Liberal and Labour parties, which form the national government, do not contest the House of Commons seat held by one of these parties if it becomes vacant. Independents, however, have contested many by-elections and Sir Richard Acland's Common Wealth party has won two recent by-elections.

LOOK TO ELECTION

The question is whether the four-year-old armistice in political warfare among the three major parties should continue. A general election is also in the minds of many parliamentarians.

A number of cabinet changes may be announced while parliament is sitting and an effort is believed under way to strengthen the coalition government by bringing some new talent into the cabinet.

Planes Again Hit Marshall Islands

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The United States Navy reported yesterday a bombing raid on Mili Atoll in the Marshall Islands which have been pounded with almost clocklike regularity in recent days. The step-up in the number of raids in the islands to the north of the American-held Gilberts might indicate that the time is near for a beginning of softening-up operations such as usually precede invasion movements.

"Y" Boys Hear Talk On Pearl Harbor

Sixty boys sat "glued" to their seats listening to Gilbert Scott, a resident of Hawaii, tell the boys of the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

This was an exciting evening to the juvenile clubs, the Jeeps, Gremlins and Cultures, three live-wire clubs. The boys met for supper at 6 p.m. in their club room and with their club leaders.

Then at 7 p.m. the clubs gathered together to have some games, sing-songs, story hour, and to climax the evening, here Gilbert Scott, a former resident of Pearl Harbor, living there at the time when the Japs bombed this island. He described to the boys the island, things that grow there, customs of the people and finally this terrific bombing which brought the U.S. into the war.

Taking advantage of the holidays, the junior leaders had a handball tournament. Sixteen boys participated in a doubles tournament, starting at 9:30 a.m. and running through till noon. One of the big features was when Marvin Dyer and Owen Jones lost to Ray Harris and Jerry Stride. After closely fought games, Douglas Swail and Gordon Mainwood emerged victors and won a silver trophy which will be challenged for again in the early spring. The following boys participated in the tournament: Grant Martin, Marvin Dyer, Owen Jones, Douglas Swail, Frank Doucette, Ray Harris, Jerry Stride, Oakley Dyer, Jerry Johnston, Gordon Mainwood, Stanley Mainwood, Hugh Stanton, Don Bentley, Harris Cole and Jack Primeau.

A shoe-string shuffle dance is to be held in the West gym on Friday, Feb. 4, sponsored by the Intermediate Leaders' Corps.

Girls Hear Talk At Metropolitan

At Metropolitan C.G.I.T. last Tuesday, Jan. 11, Miss Jean Baynton, better known as Bambi, was present. She is the girls' work secretary of Alberta, and was trying to help the groups of Metropolitan solve some of their group troubles. Any girl that was at Falls Senior Camp last summer knows how excellent she is at that.

The basketball league is starting on Monday at Bisset United church on 96 street and 103 avenue. The teams playing are Erskine vs. Knox, and McDonald Baptist vs. Bisset.

Young People's Activities

AVONMORE

A missions meeting was held last week. Next week, all the members are asked to bring plays, one of which will be chosen by the group for production at a later date.

EASTWOOD

Several rehearsals of a play have been held. The date for presentation has not yet been decided.

ERSKINE

The subject of the devotion was "The Church." Old familiar games were enjoyed, led by Margaret Mortimer, a discussion under the leadership of Zoe Williams is planned for the next meeting. Douglas Laing, Sibyl Leach, Zoe Williams, and the two Bills will direct a debate on Jan. 23. A sleigh-ride is being held on Saturday, Jan. 28.

MCDUGALL

The regular Sunday night meeting opened with a short sing song and a devotion. The program featured a talk by Rev. D. Amos, later-church missionary on the Alaska Highway. His account of some of his experiences in this connection will add much to the enthusiasm of this group in taking part in the mission's drive now being planned by the Edmonton Presbytery Young People's Union to raise funds for the Alaska Highway Missions Project. Following Mr. Amos' address, a social period was enjoyed by members and visitors. The meeting closed with the singing of one verse of "Abide With Me."

Girls Are Active At Knox Church

The C.G.I.T. group of Knox United church is well on its way in the new year's work. One of the groups has made embroidered felt booties for the children up north. Just before Christmas the same group made pictures with easter cups and Christmas cards for presents. The other groups are getting ready for a bazaar.

The officers are as follows: Superintendent, Mrs. Parsons; president, Kay Cruickshank; vice-president, Mary Miller; treasurer, Beryl Bisset; secretary, Barbara Callow; song-leader, Doris Milne; games leader, Barbara Lipsey.

MCDUGALL HIGH

By Reva Taradash

The Student's Union is busy these days, planning a skating party for Jan. 21 and a "Lil" for Jan. 28. As the boys have wanted a club for a long time the Union has consented. The exact name or activities of this club have as yet not been decided.

The first meeting of the drama club was held Tuesday with several students participating. Elections took place with the following being elected: Director, president, Lorraine Macdonald and secretary, treasurer, Miriam Stochinsky.

Since the opening of this term the grade 12 class has bought $54.75 worth of war savings stamps. The girls of the class also were made-up on Monday morning in an effort to save money to buy stamps.

WESTGLEN

By Jack Gibbons

To encourage the sale of war stamps and certificates, the Students' Council has purchased a pennant to be awarded each week to the winning room. The self-imposed quota amounts to $300.

Plans are being made for ordering Westglen sweatshirts.

A large turnout attended a swing club meeting in the library last Tuesday.

With Mr. McAllister as staff representative, the badminton club has for its president, secretary, treasurer and executive member, Jocelyn Simpson, Margaret Weir and Gordon Woodman.

EASTWOOD

By Susanna Alexeeff

The second War Stamp Stamp, sponsored by the patriotic committee, proved to be successful, with $30.50 worth of stamps sold. Under the supervision of Mr. McGuire, the committee has set as an objective $100 worth of stamps to be sold in each room for this school term. One-tenth of the objective has been reached, and with the purchasing of $4.50 worth of stamps in any room, an airplane is pasted on a chart hanging in the assembly hall.

Friday's skating party put on by the Students Union, at the Avenue

Rink, had quite a large turnout of Eastwoodites. Mr. McCoy and Miss Harris were patrons.

VICTORIA

By Dolores Kimball

War stamps sold at Vic are approaching the $150 mark, and Room 12 is leading the parade with a total of $52.75. This stamp drive is the work of the combined forces of the Students Union and Hi-Y. "Learn to Dance" classes directed by Lorna Brown, are held Wednesdays and Fridays for those students who haven't already mastered the art of dancing. A bigger and better issue of the Argosy was published this week, and the staff is already at work on the material for the February issue.

VARSITY

By Jeanne Gould

An enthusiastic group of athletes filled Room 3 Tuesday, when the new ski club met for the first time. Bill Hustler was elected president, and the first outing will be held on Sunday afternoon at Connor's Hill.

The big event of the week was a skating party and mooseball dance Thursday evening at Garneau rink. It was sponsored by the drama and badminton clubs combined. Refreshments were sold and a good time was enjoyed by all.

We are looking forward to the first "Lil" of the new year which will be held next Thursday.

STRATHCONA

By John McDonald

On January 10, 20 and 21, the play, "Out of the Frying Pan" will be presented in the Garneau gymnasium by the drama club of Strathcona High school.

The cast directed by Miss Simpson, assisted by George McFarlane, includes Gordon Bradley, Donald MacDonald, Anita Ridgwell, Dick MacDonald, Josephine Pilcher, Marie McLeod, Joyce Oberg, Doris Milne, Allan Edwards, Bill Garner, Gerald Krause and Don Moore.

The business managers, assisted by the Students' Union, are Mr. Ainsley, Mr. Burchell, and Mr. Hookwood. In charge of properties are Muriel McIntosh, Doris Hazlett and Mona Hatch; costumes, Sheila Leslie, Nora Rue, Evelyn Strabel, Betty Abram and Jane Wilson; stage manager, Jerry MacDonald; stage design, Keith Adams, assisted by Ted Langer, Jack Morrow and members of the dramatic classes; lighting, Hubert Irving and Robert Luppitt; make-up, John MacDonald, assisted by Bill Jewett, Joyce Lovess, Gwen McGregor, Denise Cix, Novella Morie, Zel Sander, Wilma Stoltz and Carrie Zurich.

Tickets may be obtained from any student in the school and it is suggested that these be bought early as they are selling rapidly.

Since the beginning of the new year there has been no special effort to sell War Savings stamps, but in the last month of 1943 $165 worth were sold.

Air Cadets Obtain Weekly Lectures

By JACK DAY

Until recently it has been the usual custom for all instruction in the technical subjects of the air cadet syllabus to be given by adult instructors, either civilian, air force or air cadet personnel. With the appointment of Air Cadet Corporal Gordon Solitt as aero engine instructor, this policy has been changed.

In addition to his duties as an N.C.O. in the senior squadron, Cpl. Solitt teaches a class of junior cadets once a week. He is well qualified for the position, being engaged in aero engine work at Aircraft Repair Ltd.

Now that a precedent has been established, it is possible that this practice with regard to instructors will be extended. Already steps have been taken to have senior cadets instruct in another subject. The advantage of this system is that the instructors, being young and keen, will be able to maintain interest at a high pitch.

Carol Concert

The Garneau Girl Guides entertained their friends at a Christmas Carol pageant recently. In the dim light of a campfire, surrounded by a chorus of Guides in uniform, Christmas carols were sung and enacted by the rest of the company. The program was under the direction of Capt. Margaret Warren and Lt. Margaret McKay.

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL letters use that color.)

"Put on your light BLUE coat, Susie May," said Teddy, as he tied his ORANGE colored (use RED and YELLOW mixed) scarf under his chin. He wore a dark GREEN coat and cap. The cap had an ORANGE colored tassel and band. His shoes and stockings were TAN (use BROWN and YELLOW mixed) and the buttons on his coat and his trousers were BROWN.

"Oh see Fido!" cried Susie May, pulling her little BLUE tam over her head and pointing with one of her light TAN mittens. "Fido has brought you your long RED boots!" The boots were very shiny and you can leave white spaces on them as indicated. The tassels were YELLOW. Fido's collar was TAN.

Susie May's curls were YELLOW and her leggings were BLUE like her coat, but her shoes were BROWN.

"I have our RED sled ready. Its YELLOW runners will carry us swiftly down the hill. I will pull it up again by its long RED strap."

The wall was FRENCH GRAY (use BLACK lightly and add a bit of BROWN), and the woodwork was light YELLOW. The floor was dark BROWN. There were YELLOW figures on the curtains at the door. The door knob was dark BROWN.

Both children have PINK cheeks (use RED lightly).

Promoted

Maj. John H. Gowan of this city who has been promoted to that rank while serving in Italy with the Seaforth Highlanders.

Local Officer Wins Majority With Seaforths

An original member of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, Maj. John H. Gowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gowan of 10184 108 street, has returned to duty with his regiment after receiving his promotion to the rank of major, and serving as staff captain of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade of the 1st Canadian Division, according to information received by his parents. He was promoted to the rank of major in December.

Major Gowan enlisted as a private with the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, a Vancouver infantry regiment, in September, 1939.

He was promoted to corporal and then to sergeant, and held that rank when his regiment arrived in England in December, 1939, as part of the 1st Canadian Division. He was promoted to the rank of lieutenant early in 1941, and later in that year accompanied a British Commando raid on the continent, and was the first Canadian to so participate.

Later he was promoted to captain and served as adjutant of his regiment the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada for almost two years. He relinquished his post to take command of a company with the Seaforths, during the invasion of Sicily and participated in the landings on Sicily and the capture of Agira, where the Seaforths, as part of the 8th Army had hard fighting against the Germans and suffered very heavy casualties. During this battle the Germans shelled the battalion headquarters, and the officer who took his place as adjutant was killed. Captain Gowan was then required to again take the post as adjutant, during the balance of the Sicilian campaign and the invasion of Italy.

During this campaign in Italy he was promoted to staff captain at H.Q. of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade at Campobasso, Italy, and held that rank until in December 1943 he was again promoted to the rank of major with his regiment. Major Gowan is one of the only three officers left of the Seaforths who were not casualties of those who participated in both landings on Sicily and Italy. He was born in Edmonton, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Gowan. He is 28 years old, is married and his wife and daughter reside in Edmonton. He attended Garneau High School and was a bugler with the C.O.T.C. for about a year, and then served as a lieutenant with the Edmonton Fusiliers in 1934 when that unit was under the command of Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., now area commandant.

Greek Resistance Said at Low Ebb

CAIRO, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Newly arrived refugees from Greece said yesterday that organized resistance against the German and Bulgarian occupation forces was at its lowest ebb in 18 months.

These refugees said Athens and the port district of Piraeus had been heavily mined by the Germans in addition to the great marathan dam which controls the city's water supply.

Even the slightest show of resistance, the refugees said, caused the Nazis to burn villages wholesale and to hold mass executions of the male population.

The fear of reprisals is so great many people are asking the guerrillas to go away and in some instances even welcome the "protective battalions" to keep the patriots at a distance, they said.

One refugee blamed the letting down partly on bad weather hampering outside agencies in getting food and clothing into the country.

Burns to Death
SUDBURY, Ont., Jan. 15.—(CP)—Joe Gagne, 69, of Gogama, 80 miles northeast of here, was burned to death last night when fire completely destroyed his home. Three men broke into the house in an attempt to rescue Gagne, but found him unconscious inside the door. He had apparently succumbed as he was about to escape.

Leaves Board
OTTAWA, Jan. 15.—(CP)—National Film Board announced yesterday the retirement of A. G. McLean who for two years has been controller and secretary of the board. He is being succeeded by E. C. Collins, formerly of the auditor general's office.

Promoted

F.O. W. S. (Benny) Smith, word of whose promotion to that rank has been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith of 1215 50 street. F.O. Smith was born in Edmonton and is 22 years old. He attended Highlands and Eastwood schools, and was an engineering student at the University of Alberta at the time of his enlistment in the R.C.A.F. in June, 1942. He received all his training in Edmonton, graduating as a navigator from No. 2 A.O.S. He was commissioned as a Pilot Officer upon graduation.

Salvation Army Officer Arrives For Duties Here

Brigadier Rufus Raymer, newly appointed Salvation Army divisional commander, arrived in Edmonton Friday with his wife, to take up his duties, succeeding Lt. Col. L. Ursaki, who was recently transferred to Halifax.

A salvationist practically all his life, Brig. Raymer graduated from the Salvation Army training college in 1908 and has served as divisional head and in field appointments ever since.

All the Salvation Army evangelistic work in the province and the Red Shield War Services will be under his supervision and Mrs. Raymer will be in charge of the Red Shield Women's Auxiliary and the League of Mercy.

"INTRODUCTION TO WEST"
Brig. Raymer, whose assignment here is his "first introduction to the west," is divisional commander of the northern Ontario area, with headquarters at Orillia, and in charge of the supervision of the evangelistic work and war services in that area.

He pointed out that Camp Borden, which was under his jurisdiction, was in charge of Edmontonian W. Eadie, a captain in the Salvation Army.

"As far as my work here is concerned," Brig. Raymer said, "the important thing is first the winning of the war. To that end, we are lending all our efforts, including the relinquishing of many of our forces into armed services."

A united meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock at the 102 street Citadel, at which time Brig. and Mrs. Raymer will be officially installed. Lt. Col. W. Oake of Winnipeg will conduct the installation.

Operating Rail Groups Accept Wage Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The railroad operating brotherhoods' wage dispute in the United States was settled last night when the firemen, conductors and switchmen accepted the same pay increase—an over-all boost of nine cents an hour—that President Roosevelt awarded the engineers and trainmen in arbitration proceedings.

This removed from controversy the wages of 350,000 men who operate the trains and possibly opened the way for early return of the railroads to private management. The U.S. army took over control of the roads Dec. 27 because of a strike threat.

Still to be settled are the demands of 1,100,000 non-operating railroad workers—the shompen, clerks and others who do not operate trains—for a pay increase in lieu of overtime.

No Sub Victims Landed in Year
LISBON, Jan. 15.—(CP)—Indications of Allied mastery of the U-boat menace in the Atlantic was provided by an official Portuguese statement yesterday that not a single torpedoed seaman from a belligerent ship was brought into Tagus during 1943, as against 448 such seamen reaching here in 1942.

Little Theatre Play on Jan. 26

The Edmonton Little Theatre group will present "The Eve of St. Mark" on Jan. 26, 27 and 28, at the Westgate auditorium.

This is one of the first and most successful of the many recent plays dealing with the war. The author, Maxwell Anderson, tells the story of an ordinary American boy who is swept up in a vortex of war and carried from his farm home through army camps and campaigns to heroism in the South Pacific. The play had a successful run on Broadway and was simultaneously released for production in Canada and the United States.

Well-known Edmonton writer-director, Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes is directing the production here.

Senate Meeting Called For Feb 11

The next regular meeting of the senate of the University of Alberta will be held in the Senate Chamber, Arts Building, on Friday, Feb. 11, at 10 a.m.

Any interested persons or bodies are invited to make submissions at the meeting, either orally or in writing, upon any matters tending to enhance the usefulness of the university. Such submissions can be more effectively dealt with if submitted in writing in advance of the meeting and it is preferable that they be supported by personal representation at the meeting. Such representations, if made in writing, should be addressed to the Registrar, University of Alberta.

Say Mild Weather To Continue Here

Fair weather of the last week will continue over the week-end according to the forecast for today and tomorrow. A trace of snow was registered Friday when several light falls occurred between 9:03 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. No further snowfall is predicted, however, and the mild temperatures will continue. Maximum temperature Friday was 27 degrees, and the overnight low was 11 degrees above zero. The forecast for the week-end is "generally fair and not much change in temperature."

THE GIRL WHO IS A MAN

SUPERMAN

JOE SHUSTER

THE MAN OF STEEL FACES A REALLY TOUGH ONE THIS TIME! MUCH AGAINST HIS BETTER JUDGMENT HE GETS MIXED UP IN THE SORT OF FOUR-SIDED ARGUMENT THAT SEEMS SURE TO MAKE MORE ENEMIES THAN FRIENDS... SO... READ ON AND SUFFER WITH SUPERMAN...

BUT THIS ONE IS ALMOST IN THE SERVICES!

IT SAYS: "DEAR SUPERMAN: YOU'VE GOT TO HELP ME TO REACH A DIFFICULT DECISION. I'M DETERMINED TO JOIN ONE OF THE SERVICES OPEN TO WOMEN, BUT CAN'T DECIDE WHETHER IT SHOULD BE THE WAVES, THE MARINES OR THE SPARS."

THAT SHOULDN'T BE DIFFICULT. SHE JUST MAKES UP HER MIND WHICH BRANCH SHE PREFERENCES-- AND THEN JOINS IT!

IT ISN'T THAT EASY! LOOK AT THESE PHOTOS SHE ENCLOSED.

THEY'RE WONDERFUL BOYS, AND I DON'T WANT TO LOSE ANY OF THEM! BUT WHICH EVER OUTFIT I JOIN-- I'LL LOSE THREE OF THEM. SUPERMAN, YOU'VE GOT TO HELP ME.

COUNT ME OUT, JUDY! MAKE YOUR OWN DECISION-- AND MAKE YOUR OWN ENEMIES!

BUT ALL I ASK YOU TO DO IS FIND OUT WHICH OF THE BOYS IS DOING THE BEST JOB FOR HIS COUNTRY-- AND THAT'S THE OUTFIT I WANT TO JOIN.

THAT SEEMS FAIR ENOUGH, SO I'LL GUESS I'LL HAVE TO DO IT!

YOU'RE... YOU'RE WONDERFUL!

NICE GOING, SUPERMAN!

"NICE GOING, EH? SO I'M ON MY WAY TO ITALY TO SEE HOW A SOLDIER NAMED TOM IS GETTING ON WITH THE WAR-- AND I'LL PROBABLY END UP BY ANTICIPATING THE NAVY, THE MARINES AND THE COAST GUARD! WHY CAN'T I MIND MY OWN BUSINESS?!"
